WILSON BY 2,000,000 WINS 38 OF 48 STATES

SAFE LEAD FOR G. O. P. IN SENATE CONTEST

Before the smoke had quite cleared from the battlefield today Eben Sumner Draper of Milford, in Worcester County, had pitched several things into the ring, put up his standard and again told all comers he would be a candidate before the new Legislature for the place W. Murray Crane is leaving in the United States Senate.

At about the same time Congressman John W. Weeks thinks the iron may be about hot enough for a strike.

Republican Legislature.

For—although the Democrats were slow to abandon hope—there is every indication that the new Legislature will be Taft Republican by an extremely comfortable majority.

Out of 40 Senators, 27 are Republicans

COUNCIL CONFERS ON PIER

The Governor's Council met today to decide the question of asking but the Commonwealth Pier is South Boston, now leased to the New Haven Railroad, and turning it over to the port directors for lease to the Hamburg-American Line, which wants to inaugurate a passenger and freight line of steamships between Boston and northern European ports.

Nobody appeared to oppose the plan, but there was a formidable army of advocates. Port Director Ryan Hassell was early on hand to offer argument in favor of the transfer, as were President Joseph B. Russell and former President George S. Smith and others from the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The only opposition to the plan is said to be confined to several members of the Governor's council, but there is vigorous support from mercantile and commercial interests. The establishment of a line of steamships such as that proposed is looked upon as a very effective means of developing the port of Boston.

THREE NEW MEN IN GOVERNOR'S COUNCIL; TWO REPUBLICANS

There will be three new Executive Councillors, in addition to the new Lieutenant-Governor, who is a member of the Council, ex officio.

In District 2 Guy A. Bass (R) succeeds J. Stearns Cushing (R) of Norwood. In District 6, G. Frederick Simpson (R.) of Newton succeeds Herbert E. Fletcher (R.) of Westford. In District 7, Daniel E. Denny (R.) of Worcester succeeds Winfield E. Schuster (R) of Springfield.

The other incumbents are reelected. This gives the make-up of the 1913 Council as follows:

District

1—Eben S. S. Keith, R. Bost.
2—Guy A. Bass, R., Bost.
3—Edward P. Collins, D., Bost.
4—Alexander McGregor, R., Hubc
5—Edward G. Brettingham, R. Brookl.
6G. Frederic Simpson, R., Newt.
7—Daniel E. Denny, R., Worcs.
8—Augustus H. Gosting, R., Springfield.
9—Resigned

Councillor Collins is not slated as "reelected," for it is virtually a reelection for him, as he was appointed to succeed Councillor John Quinn, Jr., who the latter was elected Sheriff of Suffolk.

ILLINOIS T. R.'S BY PLURALITY OF 25,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Latest return indicate that Roosevelt carried Illinois by 25,000. Judge Dunne, former Mayor of Chicago, Democrat, has won the governorship.

MINNESOTA GIVES WILSON PLURALITY

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Late returns today indicate that Roosevelt's early lead has been overcome and that Wilson has carried the State by about 10,000 plurality.

No Honest Business Has Anything to Fear Says President-Elect

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—President-Elect Woodrow Wilson today issued a statement in which he declared that "honest business" need have no fear of disaster as a result of the great Democratic victory, and pledged himself to secure a government released from all selfish and private influence and devoted to justice and progress.

The Governor wrote the statement immediately after he arose from a sleep of eleven hours shortly before noon and immediately gave it to the newspapermen, who had besieged the Wilson home since early morning. It was as follows:

"BUSINESS HAS NOTHING TO FEAR."

The result filled me with hope that the thoughtful, progressive voters of the nation may now at least be united to give the country freedom of enterprise and a government released from all selfish and private influences, devoted to justice and progress. There is absolutely nothing for the honest and enlightened business men of the country to fear. No man whose business is conducted without violation of the right of free competition, and without such private understandings and secret alliances as violate the principle of our law and the policy of all wholesome commerce and enterprise, need fear either interference or embarrassment from the administration.

Our hope and purpose is now to bring all the forces of the nation into active and intelligent co-operation and to give to our prosperity a freshness and spirit and a confidence such as it has not had in our time. The responsibilities of the task are tremendous, but they are common responsibilities which all leaders of action and opinion must share. And with the confidence of the people behind us everything that is right is possible. My own ambition will be more than satisfied if I may be permitted to be the frank spokesman of the nation's thoughtful purpose in these great matters.

President-elect Wilson sent the following telegram to President Taft at Washington:

I warmly appreciate your kind message and wish to express my sincere personal regards.

To Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay Mr. Wilson sent the following message:

My sincere thanks for your kind message. Pray accept my cordial good wishes.

Thousands of Messages.

Thousands of messages of congratulation poured in upon the President-elect. It required eighteen telegraph operators to handle the enormous rush of business which was suddenly brought to Princeton by the election of Mr. Wilson.

From Oscar S. Straus, the Progressive gubernatorial candidate in New York, who was defeated, came the following:

I congratulate you upon your election and wish you the fullest measure of success throughout your administration.

From William Jennings Bryan the following telegram was received:

I am glad to report that you have carried my State, the city of Lincoln and my precinct. Your success here adds to my enjoyment of your national victory.

"How do you feel this morning after the election," asked the newspaper correspondents, when the President-elect received them soon after breakfast.

"I feel a little sleepy," replied the Governor with a smile. "I had intended to go to bed early last night, but in spite of myself I lost a little sleep."

Asked as to his plans Mr. Wilson said: "I will remain in Princeton the balance of this week, or until I can clear up the matters which have been brought to my attention."

BRANDEIS MAY ENTER CABINET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Without waiting for President-elect Wilson's victory to be formally affirmed by the electoral college, slate-makers were at work today picking the next Cabinet. The names generally mentioned for the Wilson portfolios were as follows:

Secretary of State—William Jennings Bryan, Senator Rayner of Maryland or Senator Bacon of Georgia.

Secretary of the Treasury—Charles R. Crane of Chicago or Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama.

Attorney-General—Samuel Untermyer of New York, Louis D. Brandeis of Boston or ex-Governor Folk of Missouri.

Secretary of the Navy—William G. McAdoo of New York.

Postmaster-General—William F. McCombs of New York or Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.

WILSON - 415 ROOSEVELT 104 TAFT - - - 12

Returns this afternoon added to the force of the landslide which has made Woodrow Wilson President-elect of the United States. He is assured of 415 out of 531 electoral votes, carrying thirty-nine States.

Wilson's popular plurality over Roosevelt was estimated this afternoon at 2,092,397. Wilson's total vote seems to have been 4,256,500. However, the combined Roosevelt-Taft popular vote is 7,737,000. The total vote for President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt was nearly 1,000,000 more than Governor Wilson's vote.

NEW HAMPSHIRE FOR WILSON.

New Hampshire, Iowa, Minnesota and Wyoming, which had been counted as doubtful earlier in the day, swung to Wilson this afternoon, making his electoral total 415.

Illinois seemed safe for Roosevelt, but his plurality was reduced to 25,000 or less, and late returns indicated a possibility of a Wilson victory in Pennsylvania.

Taft was sure of only Utah and Vermont, with 8 votes, but Idaho, with 4

SENATOR DIXON LOST IN LANDSLIDE

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 6.—Senator Joseph M. Dixon, campaign manager for Colonel Roosevelt, went down before the Democratic landslide. The Wilson wave which put Montana in the Democratic column by upwards of 6,000 carried into office a Democratic Legislature. Samuel V. Stewart has been elected Governor and Thomas Stout and John M. Evans, Democrats, elected to Congress.

WILSON MAY GET KANSAS AND PENNSYLVANIA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Late returns received this afternoon at Democratic headquarters here from Kansas and Pennsylvania led to the belief that the electoral vote of the Western State would positively go to Wilson, and that he would probably get that of the Keystone State as well.

GOVERNOR FOSS THANKS THE AMERICAN FOR ITS CAMPAIGN WORK

Governor Eugene N. Foss sent the following communication to the AMERICAN today:

Gentlemen—I heartily congratulate the Boston AMERICAN on the splendid work it did all through the campaign, not only on behalf of the Massachusetts State ticket, but in the New England States as well.

Roosevelt's six States, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Washington, Kansas, Michigan and South Dakota, totaled 104.

The next National Congress will be Democratic in both branches. The Democrats have not controlled the Senate before for nineteen years. The next Senate, it is estimated, will stand:

Democrats	82
Republicans	37
Progressives	2
Doubtful	5

The next House of Representatives, according to the latest figures, will stand:

Democrats	298
Republicans	124
Progressives	115

The Democratic gains in the Senate, it is figured, will be as follows: Colorado, 2; Delaware, 1; Illinois, 2; Nebraska, 1; New Jersey, 1; Oregon, 1; Tennessee, 1. The present Senate stands: Republicans, 50; Democrats, 43; vacancies, 3.

Pennsylvania Very Close.

The big controversial State of Pennsylvania is a very large, close vote, is apparently for Roosevelt by about 23,000 plurality.

Wilson and Sulzer (candidate for Governor) swept New York State. As in every national election, all eyes were on the Empire State. The Democratic candidate for President and his running mate for Governor won by plurralities upward of 200,000.

Ohio, normally Republican, the home of Taft, swung into the Democratic column with a momentum that piled up a plurality of over 125,000.

Missouri, which has inclined to Republicanism in late years, swings back to the Democracy with 100,000 plurality. Champ Clark is re-elected to Congress and will be the next Speaker.

DEMOCRATS GET SWEEP IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Swept to victory on the crest of Woodrow Wilson's tidal wave of popularity, Representative William Sulzer has been elected governor of New York State by a plurality estimated at from 186,000 to 190,000. This was more than twice the size of Governor John A. Dix's plurality in 1910.

Representative Sulzer's plurality over Oscar Straus in this city was first estimated at 110,000, but after those figures were compiled it continued to grow.

Governor Wilson carried each of the five boroughs making up this city. Colonel Roosevelt carried four election districts, but President Taft did not get a single one.

New York State will have a complete Democratic government at Albany, the Democrats having captured both branches of the Legislature. The Democrats retain their control of the Congressional delegation from the State, the figures standing 26 Democrats, 17 Republicans.

Lithogh Straus, the Progressive candidate for Governor, polled 65,000 votes more than Job E. Hedges, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, in New York city, the Republican ran second to Representative Sulzer in the State outside this city.

WILSON WINNER IN CALIFORNIA BY EIGHT TO NINE THOUSAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—At 8 a. m. today indications were that Wilson has carried California by between eight and nine thousand. Tabulation of the returns at that hour gave the following: 1,529 State precincts out of 4,372; Wilson 90,355; Roosevelt 85,358; Taft 662; Debs 11,020.

The failure of Los Angeles to yield its promised harvest of Roosevelt votes, with unexpected Democratic strength in the interior counties, is assigned as the cause of the Democratic victory, the first in a presidential election since Cleveland carried the State in 1892.

T. R.'S WASHINGTON PLURALITY IS 45,000

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt has carried Washington with a plurality of 45,000, and has carried the entire Progressive congressional ticket with him, according to incomplete returns. The fight for the governorship developed into a three-cornered one, with Hodge, Progressive, running far headed Roosevelt, while Lister, Democrat, and Hay, Republican, are fighting it out with him to win. Scattered returns indicate Lister's election by a small plurality. The votes of the women were a big factor in deciding the governorship fight, the contest against Hodge being made on his personal record.

WILSON CARRIES DELAWARE BY 5,000

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 6.—Delaware went Republican and Democratic at the same time. Wilson carried the State by about 5,000 plurality, while the State ticket from Governor down was captured by the regular Republicans with the exception of Congressman and the possible exception of Attorney-General.

WILSON WINS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—Returns for President from 280 election precincts out of 290 in New Hampshire give:

Taft 31,103, Wilson 32,586, Roosevelt 10,741, scattering 1,250.

The same places in 1908 gave: Taft 50,394, Bryan 31,742.

The same places for Governor gives: Worcester (Rep.) 30,650, Felker (Dem.) 31,287, Churchill (Prog.) 13,545.

The more New Hampshire studied the election returns the more it became evident that, working together, the Democrats and the Progressives have the situation in their hands.

None of the candidates for Governor having received that "majority of all the votes cast" demanded by the State Constitution, the election of a Governor falls to the Legislature.

The Republicans will not have a majority in joint convention of Senate and House. The Progressives will not help them to elect a Republican to succeed Governor Bass.

In this situation it appears to be—as has been cried aloud by the Republican Old Guard during the campaign—that the Democrats and Progressives will come together under a working agreement, electing Samuel D. Felker of Rochester to the Governorship and Robert Perkins Bass to the United States Senate. Mr. Felker, the Democratic nominee for Governor, worked shoulder to shoulder with the Churchill-Bass Republicans in the State Legislature. Next to Colonel Churchill, Felker's choice as Governor will please every Progressive in the State.

The only obstacle to the plan may be raised by those practical working Democrats who would like to send Henry F. Hollis to the Senate at Washington.

PROGRESSIVES CLAIM PENNSYLVANIA BY A PLURALITY OF 20,000

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Returns from 3,235 of the 6,593 election districts in Pennsylvania today gave Roosevelt 314,453; Wilson 301,046; Taft 168,830; a plurality for Roosevelt of 13,407. Basing their claims on these returns, as well as the Presidential result in 1908, Progressive leaders are claiming Pennsylvania for Roosevelt by 20,000.

Donohoe, Democrat, carried the fifth Congressional district by 6,000, and the State Senatorial ticket went to victory with him. Farley, Democrat, was elected Congressman from Harrisburg, by 4,500. Logue, Democrat, carried the Sixth district by 2,300, despite the fact that Roosevelt had a 2,000 plurality there.

WILSON PLURALITY 75,000 IN KENTUCKY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Woodrow Wilson has carried Kentucky by 75,000, the largest plurality in the history of the State. The Progressives are running second in the returns, and have won what looks to be election officers at the next election.

LEGISLATURE REPUBLICAN

Out of 240 members of the House of Representatives, 123 are Republicans, 99 are Democrats, 6 are Progressives, 1 is a Socialist, 3 are described as Independents, and there are 8 districts to be heard from.

Republican plurality in the House, 24.

Republican majority in the House—even conceding the 9 remaining districts to the opposition groups—6.

Republican majority in joint convention—sure and certain—not less than 50.

The Republican majority in the Legislature may be increased when the nine missing districts are heard from.

Not So, Thinks Field.

Richard Field, ever-faithful political secretary to Mayor Fitzgerald, looked over these figures today with undisguised interest, shook his head, and declared that he will "have to be shown."

"My information," Colonel Field said, "is that in the House there will be 124 Democrats, 111 Republicans, and five Progressives; in the Senate, eighteen Democrats and twenty-two Republicans.

"Allowing that the Republicans and the Progressives vote together, the Democrats—if our advices are correct—will have a majority of nine in joint convention. We are doing our best to have these figures verified."

What Will Be Done.

The Massachusetts Legislature of 1913 will take office on the first Wednesday of January, New Year's Day.

Balloting for a United States Senator will begin on Tuesday, January 14, on that day the House and Senate will ballot separately. At noon of the day following they meet in joint convention. If on the first day each has selected the same man for Senator, this will be written upon the records and he will be declared elected.

Readers of the AMERICAN will be glad to read again the statutory provisions governing the election of United States Senators.

IOWA DEMOCRATIC FOR THE FIRST TIME

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 6.—Latest available returns indicate that the Democrats have won a presidential election in Iowa for the first time in the State's history. Returns from a little more than a third of the precincts give Wilson a Wilson victory by about 10,000 votes. George W. Clarke, Republican Governor, and nine out of eleven Republican Congressmen are considered to have won. The Iowa Legislature, which elects a Senator, is thought to be Republican.

After the Age of Fifty

From this age the human system gradually declines and the accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatism or joints, muscles and nerves. The warnings should be promptly noticed and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription, which comes from a noted doctor and is said to have no equal in curing rheumatism and restoring physical vigor. Good results come after the first dose. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound with original sealed package and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half-pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original pin-ounce, sealed, yellow package.

SORE FEET. Corns, Callouses, Bunions, Frost Bites, Aching and Sweaty Feet. A spoonful of Calocide in the foot-bath gives instant relief. Get a 25c. box at any drug store.

DEBS POLLED 800,000 VOTES

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Revised returns and estimates made for Socialistic where returns are yet incomplete indicate that the Socialists polled nearly 800,000 votes in the presidential election for their candidate, Eugene V. Debs, against 420,793 given in 1908.

Gains were made by the Socialists in practically every State, but the largest were recorded in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Maryland, West Virginia, Colorado and Oklahoma.

In New York State the Socialist vote of 1908 was more than doubled, great gains for the party being made in Buffalo, Rochester, Schenectady, Troy and Utica. A gain of 2,400 was made over the 1908 returns in Buffalo, a 12,000 gain is claimed for New York city and 2,000 in Rochester, while the vote yesterday in Troy, Utica and many of the smaller cities in the State more than doubled that of four years ago. The most surprising showing made by the Socialists in the Empire State was in Schenectady, city and county. Complete returns for the city gave Wilson 4,134, Taft 4,081, Roosevelt 2,037 and Debs 2,871, while in the gubernatorial fight Charles Edward Russell, Socialist, polled 2,043 against 4,760 for Sulzer, 2,044 for Hedges and 2,199 for Straus.

Congressman Victor L. Berger went down to defeat in Milwaukee, against the Fusion candidate. The Socialists polled a big vote throughout the State for Debs. Berger's opponents united to defeat him and succeeded.

The Socialists made pronounced gains in Illinois, especially in Cook County and the party leaders on the early returns claimed the election of William H. Cunnea, as State's Attorney for Cook County, over MacLay Hetrea, Democrat.

Joy Wins With Wilson

STRAUS WIRES TO WILSON AND SULZER

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Oscar Straus, defeated Progressive candidate for Governor, sends the following statement early today:

"The Progressives have fought a valiant battle on a high plane. The campaign has just begun and will be continued until it is won."

Mr. Straus sent Governor Wilson the following telegram:

I congratulate you on your election and wish you the fullest measure of success throughout your administration.

To Mr. Sulzer, Mr. Straus sent this telegram:

I congratulate you on your election and wish you and the people of the Empire State every success in your administration.

FRANK J. DONAHUE, STATE SECRETARY CANDIDATE, ILL

The illness of Frank J. Donahue, who now appears to have been elected Secretary of State with the rest of the Democratic ticket, became known today.

Mr. Donahue has been confined to his home at No. 106 Gleaway street, Dorchester, since last Saturday. Today he was in bed. He is suffering from an abscess on the face.

His physician says Mr. Donahue's illness, while painful, is not dangerous. He hopes to have his patient out in a few days.

Ten young Democratic candidate for Secretary of State was too ill to come to the telephone today, so Mrs. Donahue made a brief statement which her husband had been reading the latest returns, but did not wish to speak on the outcome of the balance of the State ticket until he had the full figures.

Mr. Donahue is highly pleased at the Wilson and Foss victories, and especially at the success of David I. Walsh. He did not care to say anything yet about his own candidacy.

WIFE FIRST TO TELL WILSON

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—Governor Wilson first heard the news that he had been elected President from his own family. Mrs. Wilson herself carried the dash from the telegraph operator at just 10 o'clock, and, throwing her arms around his neck, kissed him, saying, "I want to be the first to congratulate you, my dear."

Then his daughters, Misses Margaret, Jessie and Eleanor, went over to their father who was sitting in a big arm chair before an open fire, and offered their congratulations.

The Governor, in the midst of his family and a few friends, had been receiving returns all the evening, trying as best he could to conceal his emotions.

The Governor received the first returns at 6:30 o'clock, just before he sat down to dinner. They came from his former private secretary, Joseph Tumulty, who telephoned from the Princeton Club. They were to the effect that he was leading Colonel Roosevelt and President Taft in several districts in New York State and in Massachusetts. He thanked Tumulty, but made no comment except to say that they "sounded all right."

The dinner that followed was much in the nature of a celebration, for every minute or two it was interrupted by messages from the telegraph room, every one of which brought news that the tide was running strongly in the Governor's favor.

Those who were at this little dinner, besides the Governor and his wife and daughters, were Joseph A. Wilson, a brother; Captain George H. McMasters, U. S. A., a cousin; Fitzwilliam McMasters, Woodrow, Joseph P. Tumulty and Dudley Field Malone.

Captain "Bill" McDonald, the Governor's body guard, was on hand, too, and perhaps the happiest one of them all. He ran out two or three times to tell the newspaper men about the reports being received.

Governor Wilson sat quietly at the head of the table, trying his best to conceal what he felt. He succeeded pretty well, too, but he couldn't help smiling, and his eyes brightened as one favorable bulletin after another came over the wire and were read aloud.

TAFT IS GOING BACK TO LAW

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—President Taft will return to the law when he leaves the White House, on March 4. His will come back here to his home town, he said today, and "practice just enough law to make a living for myself and family."

Asked if he would be a candidate for a nomination by his party in 1916, President Taft replied:

"Do you mean a contest between me and Wilson? No."

He declared the Roosevelt vote would not wreck the Republican party, and "that he would devote his energies to seeing that those who sought to return to the G. O. P. should show works meet for repentance. Although not naming Colonel Roosevelt, President Taft declared the Bull Moose party to be the result of a few months of fomented enthusiasm.

The President's great aim, he said, would be "to preserve the life of constitutional government." The Bull Moose party, he intimated, had "served to tear apart the safeguards of liberty."

President Taft was smiling in the fact of overwhelming defeat. He was under less strain than any member of the family party at the home of Charles P. Taft when the details of the Wilson landslide came in. Four years ago, in the same house, he received the news of his election.

Every invalid woman is invited to consult our Staff of Physicians, Surgeons and Specialists, at the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter or personally at my expense.—R. V. PIERCE, M. D.

I Invite Suffering Women

There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the delicate female organism. There is every reason why she should write or personally consult an experienced specialist.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For "run-down," debilitated women of all occupations is unequaled as a restorative tonic. As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" allays and subdues nervous excitability, irritability nervous exhaustion, and other distressing symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the feminine organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and dispondency.

DR. PIERCE'S

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is devised and put up by a physician of vast experience in the treatment of women's maladies. Its ingredients have the indorsement of leading physicians in all schools of practice.

The "Favorite Prescription" has been sold by dealers in medicine in its liquid form for over 40 years. Now it can also be obtained of them in tablet form—or send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce for trial box.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorates the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of wrapping and mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, cloth-bound. Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

"It Helped Me So Much."

Mrs. F. W. Evans, of Madison, Fla., says: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done me so much good. Before using it I was a sickly woman and my child was born. I was left miserable. I doctored with two physicians without any relief. I then went to see one of the best doctors in Williamsport. He said I must have an operation at once and that I should quit work, but that would be something I would not do. I then wrote to you for your 'Favorite Prescription' and it helped me so much. I always recommend it until our last child when I got along nicely. I shall never go through it again without your medicine.

"Will close by wishing you much success in future."

BRANDEIS FOR THE CABINET

Senator O'Gorman of New York was also mentioned for cabinet honors.

There were some who believed that Democratic National Chairman McCombs, instead of accepting a place in the cabinet, would become the President's secretary.

Victory Truly National.

By the election of Governor Wilson as President and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana as Vice-President a national Democratic administration will come into power for the first time since Grover Cleveland's term expired in 1896, Republicans having been in power for sixteen consecutive years.

President-elect Wilson's victory was truly national. He did not draw his strength from any particular section of the country, but East and West and North and South united in giving the national Democratic ticket the greatest sweep in the history of American politics.

From the belated returns which filtered in throughout the night and forenoon it was indicated that ex-President Roosevelt would run second and that President Taft would be third. These returns indicated that Colonel Roosevelt would have more than twice as many votes as President Taft in the electoral college.

Congress Behind Wilson.

The sixty-third Congress will be entirely Democratic, and President-elect Wilson will have the full force of both legislative branches of the government behind him to back up his demands on Congress.

Governor Wilson's immense strength swept to victory with him congressional, legislative and State officers throughout the country.

Leaders of the national Progressive party declare that the Republican party has been all but annihilated, and that it will never again figure potentially in the political affairs of this nation.

One of the most significant features of the great popular upheaval was a solemn warning issued by President Taft at Cincinnati as a result of the big vote of the Progressive and Socialist tickets.

COOLIDGE NAMED IN BUTLER'S PLACE

The late William E. Butler had been nominated as a director for three years of the Chamber of Commerce, whose annual meeting comes on November 19. In his stead, Louis A. Coolidge, treasurer of the United Shoe Machinery Company, and formerly assistant to the treasurer at Washington, has been placed in nomination by a large number of Boston's representative business men.

WONDERFUL
3 DAYS' CONQUEROR

Drink Habit

I averaged drinking about 20 glasses of whiskey daily, also considerable beer, gin and ale. I lost all desire.

Mothers, Wives, Sisters

While drifting from bad to worse as all slaves of King Alcohol do, I unexpectedly found a true cure. It was (and is) genuine. It saved my life. My health was quickly restored. I became and am a respectable man, enjoying every benefit of freedom from the accursed alcohol. I speedily and naturally lost all desire for drink. I took less and less. I began to prefer tea, coffee and other non-alcoholic liquids; the craving for liquor ceased. I could sleep perfectly, my stomach became well and I recovered from other ailments which I now know were due to my indulgence in strong drink. I was cured in only three days. By fortunate circumstances I learned the True Method for overcoming liquor habit with or without the drinker's knowledge. My remedy is indorsed by physicians and in legions of testimonials. I will send you ample proof.

Drinkers Secretly Saved

My treatment is speedy, safe, convenient, can be taken at home or while attending to business. I tell about the secret in my book, which I send FREE to every person (or relative or friend) who takes alcohol in any form to excess. My one purpose in life is to save the drunkard; each victim has my sympathy. My remedy is for either steady or periodical drinkers. Think of it—a complete and lasting Home Treatment between Friday night and Monday night—or any other 72 hours! DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS—even if the drinker seems to be able to control himself, you can never tell when he will meet with accident or be stricken with delirium tremens, epilepsy, prostration, heart failure, pneumonia, softening of the brain or other serious ailment. $10,000 reward. Guarantee given.

ABSOLUTELY FREE

I will send you my book, in plain wrapper, promptly, postpaid. It tells of my own career and the wonderful remedy and gives valuable advice. No other book like it. I especially appeal to those who have wasted money on treatments, institutes, or remedies which had no satisfactory effect. My book costs you nothing, and you will always be glad you wrote. WALSH'S LEAD IS NOW 39,500

David I. Walsh of Fitchburg, the first Democrat to be elected Lieutenant-Governor in Massachusetts, swept the State by the overwhelming plurality of 39,000. His vote was 185,000, against 146,000 for Luce, the present Republican Lieutenant-Governor, and 99,000 for Cosgrove, the Bull Moose candidate.

Boston stood by the Democratic aspirant, giving him 50,190 votes, or 1,522 votes more than Governor Foss received in the city. Luce, in Boston, got 19,303. Cosgrove was six thousand and some odd behind Luce.

Walsh not only beat out Luce, but ran ahead of Governor Foss in Boston.

Walsh's vote, according to the best estimate, is 185,000. Foss' vote, as shown by the latest reports, will be 185,900.

In 1911, when Mr. Walsh made his first fight for the office of Lieutenant-Governor, he polled a vote of 200,318 against 204,460 for Luce. Although defeated, Walsh had received the biggest vote ever given a Democratic candidate for that office in the State.

Walsh was particularly strong in the industrial centres of the State. He ran ahead of Foss in a majority of the industrial cities carried by the Democracy. Cosgrove, the Bull Moose candidate, although a former Democrat, failed to cut into Walsh's vote to any extent.

Walsh's vote was increased in Lynn, Quincy and a number of other of the leading cities where the laboring vote is strong.

The political career of the new Lieutenant-Governor has been remarkable. It began in 1900, three years after he had been graduated from the Boston University Law School and when he was 28 years of age. It was in 1900 that he successfully ran for the House from the Clinton district. His success in this fight made him the first Democrat ever elected to serve that district in the Legislature.

Local Democratic leaders who analyzed the returns last night and this morning expressed the opinion today that Walsh would be the next Governor of the State.

Mr. Walsh's Statement.

Here is statement sent to the AMERICAN by the successful candidate, after his election was assured:

To the AMERICAN:

The work done by the AMERICAN in this campaign for the Democratic party and its candidates has been magnificent. Its editorials have been a strong and remarkable contribution to the literature of politics in this State. Its news service has been wide, varied and complete. This, combined with the great circulation of the paper, carried a tremendous influence in behalf of progressive principles to the masses of the people in every city and town in the State, even to the remotest hamlet.

The AMERICAN, with its clear, strong and brilliant presentation of arguments for progressive measures and Democratic principles, has in itself overcome the argument of all the Republican press of the State. Without its great force in our behalf, I do not know where the party would have been in the past several campaigns.

I desire personally to express my deep appreciation of the great aid which it has been to my candidacy and the splendid opportunity it gave to me to present my views to the people.

DAVID I. WALSH.

One of Ten Children.

The first Democratic Lieutenant-Governor-elect of Massachusetts is a native of Worcester County, being born in Leominster, November 11, 1872. He is the second youngest of a family of ten children. His father was by occupation a pressman, and worked in the comb factories of Leominster until 1880, when he moved with his family to Clinton.

BOSTON GIVES WILSON PLURALITY OF 21,158
BIRD BEATS WALKER

Boston gave Governor Wilson a plurality of 21,158. Four years ago it gave Bryan the bare plurality of 207. Boston's vote for Governor Foss was a record breaker. The Governor went up State with 29,565, plurality over Charles S. Bird, candidate of the Progressives. The plurality of almost 1,500 that Bird had in Boston over Walker was one of the surprises of the day in Boston.

All three Congressmen in Boston districts were re-elected. Congressman Murray in the Tenth district had as his nearest competitor Daniel T. Callahan, candidate of the Bull Moosers. He led Callahan by 8320 votes. Loyal L. Jenkins, candidate of the Republicans, finished a bad third. Callahan beat him by 1387 votes.

In the Eleventh district Congressman Andrew J. Peters had an easy thing in defeating Sherwin L. Cook. He topped Cook by 9087 votes. There was no Progressive candidate in this district.

In the Twelfth District, Congressman James M. Curley was re-elected with the Bull Moose candidate, James M. Connolly the author, running second. Curley had a plurality of 5,847. Connolly had a plurality of 3189 over Charles H. Robinson, the Republican nominee. Connolly made a remarkable showing in many of the wards strongly Democratic.

In Hyde Park, David W. Murray, for many years a member in the Legislature, went down to defeat under a Bull Mooser. He was beaten by eighteen votes by Clarence J. Wing.

Sheriff John Quinn, Jr., was handsomely re-elected. The Democrats, however, lost two Senators in the Boston districts and their representation in the House suffered slightly also.

The Comfort and Economy of Tourist Sleeping Cars in Traveling to the Pacific Coast

I would like to explain to you just what a Tourist Sleeping car is, what conveniences and comforts they have and how you can save money by joining one of our through parties, which go to the coast every week in one of these cars, escorted by a special conductor employed by the "Burlington Route" to look after your comfort. For many years the Burlington Route Personally Conducted Excursions to California have been widely known for the excellence of the service provided and the character of the employes in charge. The whole idea of these parties is to provide a way for people of moderate means to make the California trip comfortably and in thoroughly good hands, and at the same time at an expense that is not prohibitive. Please call at the office or write—a postal will do. Alex Stocks, New England Passenger Agent, C., B. & Q. R. R., 294 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

WILSON'S ELECTION PROGRESSIVE TRIUMPH, DECLARES BRANDEIS

Louis D. Brandeis, who is mentioned as one of the leading candidates fo Attorney-General in the Cabinet of President Wilson, said today:

Wilson's election is the greatest possible victory that could have been won for progressive principles at this time. The only question that now remains to be answered is, whether the people will be permitted to obtain the full benefit of the changes made by them.

President-elect Wilson is a typical Democrat, and one of the most Democratic of men. There is no doubt as to where he stands. He can be trusted at all times. By temperament, training and in every conceivable way he is qualified to fill the great office. His election is a triumph for principle the country over.

It remains for the real progressives of all three political parties to assist him in the work still left to be done. Steadfast, strong and true as he is, Wilson cannot of his own strength accomplish anything. The Progressives in the old-line Republican party, and the Progressives in the new party must stand solidly behind Wilson and the Progressives in the Democratic party to bring about the reforms demanded by all.

Wilson, even as President of the nation, is only part of the government. Of a necessity he must have the co-operation of the other units that go to make up the government to succeed. Upon this rests the immediate and lasting welfare of the community, regardless of party differences.

It only remains for the Progressives of all three parties to place principle above mere partisanship for Wilson's election to mark one of the most important epochs in the history of the nation.

He will not fail the people, no matter what test he may be put to. If his fellow progressives, in all political parties, will be true to themselves, the people's fight is won.

Mr. Brandeis positively refused to discuss, even indirectly, the possibility of his becoming a member of Wilson's cabinet. On that question he was unpardonable.

AMERICAN TOLD PEOPLE NEWS

The AMERICAN'S election extras and stereopticon bulletin service put the greatest election news smoking hot before the public.

The first complete returns from any city or town came from Acushnet at 2:30. They showed that the Wilson and Foss tickets had gained in that ordinarily Republican community, thereby indicating the Democratic trend.

Then returns began coming in from other places, first at intervals, then quickly and finally in the tremendous, rushing flood that marks the latter-day system of collecting election news.

Every hour the Wilson and Foss boom grew.

The AMERICAN issued election extras every hour. These extras contained the news from Boston, Massachusetts, New England and the country at large, as fast as it could be compiled.

Shortly after 7:30 the AMERICAN announced the positive election of Wilson.

Extras Up to Midnight.

In successive editions, up to midnight, details of the election were given so far as they had come in. The victory in the Empire State was related. The Boston vote for the State and National tickets was printed complete. The returns from 90 Massachusetts cities and towns on the gubernatorial vote were printed, also the Presidential vote by many more.

The last election extra contained all the latest news that could be squeezed into the paper before the compositors locked up the forms.

In addition to the election figures, these extras contained many election stories, such as descriptions of scenes at various political headquarters and on the streets. The joy in the Democratic camp, the sorrow of the Republicans and the mixed feelings of the Bull Moosers were told.

The AMERICAN'S stereopticon bulletin service on Summer street made a tremendous hit with the election throng.

Returns by Stereopticon.

On a broad sheet, opposite the AMERICAN office, the returns from all over the land were flashed by stereopticon.

These bulletins were shown all the evening. Thousands of men and women, youths and maids, watched these returns—which are the quickest a newspaper can offer, quicker than the extra editions, quicker than the presses, quicker than any form of special bulletin service.

As fast as bulletins came into the AMERICAN office by messenger, wire or phone an extra copy was made for the stereopticon man. Thus the people in the street lost no time. In fact, they were getting the news hot off the wires, faster than the compositors downstairs were getting it to set up. The stereopticon man wouldn't wait. Like Oliver Twist, he asked, or rather shouted, for "more" all the evening. Also, like the baron in the light opera, he "wanted what he wanted when he wanted it." He got it.

Occasionally, sandwiched in between election bulletins, was a comic picture, just to show the national sense of humor.

The crowd watching the AMERICAN'S stereopticon sheet was jammed in from curb to curb. It was very much in earnest. It was orderly. The lines of police had no trouble. From the throng rose a ceaseless hum of discussion, broken now and then by loud cheers for important bulletins, like the successive gains of the Democracy.

The triumph of Wilson, the re-election of Governor Foss, the success of David I. Walsh, all these brought loud cheers.

The probable defeat of "Uncle Joe" Cannon brought cheers from the public, which thinks that this form of stand-pat legislator has outlived its usefulness.

Foss Congratulates Wilson, Marshall and Sulzer on Victories

Governor Foss sent congratulatory telegrams today as follows.

To Governor Woodrow Wilson,

Seagirt, N. J.

Hearty congratulations on your vote. It is the most remarkable tribute ever paid to an American public official. While it is also an endorsement of the Democratic platform, its magnitude shows unmistakably that the people of the entire country believe in you and look to you for constructive leadership.

To Governor Thomas R. Marshall, Indianapolis, Ind.:

Accept my sincerest congratulations upon your splendid triumpha."

To Congressman William Sulzer, New York.

Your victory was a most signal one. I congratulate you very heartily and wish you every success.

PIMPLES WOULD ITCH AND BURN

On Hands and Arms. Then Came in Blisters. Broke and Sometimes Bled. Nothing Cured Until Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Rushford, N. Y.—"My trouble began about twenty years ago, by breaking out in little red pimples and running together just on my hands and arms. It would itch and burn and was very disagreeable. About one year ago it took a different form, coming on my face and hands in blisters. The blisters were on my upper lip and chin and were filled with water, would break and then sometimes would bleed. They were rather unsightly. They raised in blisters on my fingers also. They itched and smarted and burned until I nearly went wild. I used ——— Salve which seemed to cure for a time, and then it would return. I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to cure until I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I used them according to directions. I have not had any sign of the trouble since using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I can surely give them a great recommendation." (Signed) Mrs. O. M. Persons, Dec. 28, 1911.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointments are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

WOMAN SAVES ABUSED HORSE

While scores of men gazed without compassion, a woman was the only one among the noonday throng on Tremont street to come to the rescue of a worn out, battered horse said to have belonged to Jacob Adleman of Windsor street, Cambridge.

The old horse was badly battered and bleeding, with hoofs nearly worn off the feet, from old age and poor shoeing.

Bystanders said the animal had collapsed and fallen several times along the street, but not until a well-dressed woman passing along the Tremont street mall went out into the street and compelled the driver to stop and drive up to the curb was any action taken.

About this time State Agent Ed H. Packard of the S. P. C. A. happened along. He took charge while the woman phoned to the S. P. C. A. headquarters.

A big crowd gathered to watch the transfer of the beast into the auto ambulance, and many were the remarks, that "it was a good job," etc. The beast was mercifully put out of existence later.

Mr. Packard said:

This is a good object lesson to the people, showing what good service can be rendered to abused animals, if the citizens will only take the law into their own hands and not promptly in the case of cruelty to animals.

But for this woman's initiative, this old horse would be staggering through the streets now. The Humane Society relies upon just this sort of reinforcement from men, women and children all over the State to prosecute its work effectively.

The society's agents can't be everywhere at once, but the public are, and the public are in consequence the Humane Society itself.

It is a people's institution. The S. P. C. A. work can advance no further than the humane impulses and acts of the people themselves.

Let everybody, therefore, constitute themselves a special police to report all cases of torment, cruelty and oppression to our captive dumb animals, and have the courage and presence of mind to act promptly in cruelty cases requiring, like this case, prompt action in order to secure the desired relief.

PEACE IN CENTURY, SAYS MRS. MEAD

"War between nations will be abolished within this century, however much longer it will take to end murders and civil wars," declared Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead of the World Peace Foundation, addressing the High School of Commerce today on "Some Fallacies About Peace and War." She declared that the United States had a great opportunity to show the way to peace to a united world.

TWO FAMILIES OF FIVE SUE

Damage suits came "family style," so to speak, at the Middlesex Superior Civil Court at East Cambridge today. Five members of a cowell family entered suits against the Bay State Street Railway Company for damages aggregating $115,000. A Stoneham family of five seeks $25,000 from that town.

The Lowell family suit against the Bay State Railway Company is for damages alleged to have been sustained when the five plaintiffs were thrown from an automobile on May 30 last. They maintain that the auto was hit by a trolley of the defendant company.

The five plaintiffs are named Hurd and their names and damages sought are: Annie A., $30,000; Carl P., $25,000; Dorothy P., $20,000; Frank W., $10,000 and Evelyn B., $20,000.

Benjamin F. Creamer of Stoneham, his wife, Margaret, and their three minor children, Viola, Joseph and Rosalind, maintain they were poisoned by drinking water tainted from a sewer vault. They hold the town responsible and seek aggregate damages of $25,000.

LOVE SUIT FILED BY W. M. HOLDEN

William M. Holden has brought two suits against Chester R. Gilmore of Holliston, one for $5,000 for alleged alienation of the affections of his wife, Florence A. Holden. He also seeks $2,000 for an alleged assault when he claims Gilmore knocked him unconscious.

FIVE NOMINATIONS SENT TO COUNCIL BY GOVERNOR FOSS

Governor Foss sent the following nominations to the Executive Council today:

Charles H. Mace, M. D., of Huntington, for associate medical examiner of Hampshire County in place of Dr. Lyman, who was appointed to that office some time ago, but never attempted to qualify.

Clarence P. Curley, M. D., of Provincetown, renominated for medical examiner of Barnstable County.

Moses S. Case of Marblehead, for trial justice in Essex; renomination.

RENDERING COMPANY MEN ARE ARRAIGNED

George H. Swift, director in the Consolidated Rendering Company, and Horatio W. Heath, manager, were arraigned before Judge Morton in the United States Court today and gave bail of $5,000 each. They are charged, with others, of violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust act in connection with the rendering business in New England. The defendants did not enter a plea. The other officials of the company, who live in Chicago, will be before the court next week.

N. Y. HARVARD CLUB TO HAVE NEW HOME

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Harvard Club of New York City, like its sister organization, the Harvard Club of Boston, is making plans for better clubhouse facilities for its members. In Boston the plans have reached the stage of excavations for a new building; in this city a $700,000 addition, counting the cost of the land, to the building already occupied by the club, is proposed in the preliminary report of a building committee.

QUIZ DAKOTAN ON TESTIMONY

Attorney Nason suddenly shifted his line of attack today in the Russell will case when he resumed his cross-examination of Dakota Dan, who is undergoing his thirty-second day under crossfire.

Mr. Nason abandoned his secret tests based on photographs and the like, and interrogated the raschman sharply concerning testimony at the first hearing.

He popped a volley of questions framed from a typewritten transcript of the witness' earlier testimony which counsel for the estate consulted throughout the morning session.

Dakota Dan did not attempt to conceal his annoyance at times. Mr. Nason also offered as exhibits all the Jim Russell letters and photographs, which Dakota Dan was asked about in much detail.

PLAY AS FIRE SWEEPS CAFE

Mrs. Frances Hall of Roxbury and Miss Grace Faglu of Brockton prevented a panic among the thirty guests in the cafe of the Hotel Grotto at No. 195 Hanover street today by playing lively music while flames spread over the cafe floor and enveloped several of the tables.

The fire was caused by the ignition of a quantity of gasoline which had been spread over the floor preparatory to cleaning it.

The flames spread quickly, and while some of the guests rushed for the door others were forced to climb upon the tables. The latter were endangered when several of the tablecloths and pieces of furniture took fire. The blaze was extinguished by the waiters.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

Tuxedo tobacco has made thousands of men converts to the pipe, because it has made pipe smoking possible for them. Under the famous "Tuxedo process" the mild tender leaves of the highest grade Burley tobacco are so skillfully treated that Tuxedo burns slowly and affords a cool, mild, thoroughly enjoyable pipe smoke.

Leading men in all walks of life—well-known doctors, lawyers, ministers, lecturers, etc.—smoke Tuxedo and testify to its soothing influence on the throat.

A host of imitators bears testimony to the superior excellence of Tuxedo, but none has succeeded in 'discovering the "Tuxedo process." Tuxedo still remains the mildest, most enjoyable and satisfactory smoking tobacco in America.

FORREST HUFF

R. I. GIVES GOV. WILSON 5,000

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 6.—Rhode Island polled a larger Democratic vote than it has in years, Governor Wilson sweeping the State by an estimated plurality of 5,000.

George P. O'Shaughnessy and Peter Goelet Gerry of Newport, two Democratic candidates for Congress, won sweeping victories, and George W. Greene cut down Governor Pothier's vote for re-election to the governorship for the fifth time to only 2,000 votes. Sumner Mowry, Democrat, was elected Lieutenant-Governor.

In Providence the Democrats elected former Alderman Joseph Gainer Mayor over Henry N. Fletcher by a plurality of 436 votes.

And His Stomach Is All Right

Thousands with Poor Teeth Have Good Digestion by Using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets After Meals.

Whether or not we eat too much, is a matter for individual judgment. Benjamin Franklin tried the experiment of living on a handful of raisins. But he discovered that the question wasn't what he ate nor the quantity thereof, but one of digestion and assimilation. The normal person eats heartily, and with keen enjoyment. That is because his mind doesn't anticipate stomach trouble. And if he does have an attack of sour stomach or indigestion he knows that the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give quick relief.

A Gentleman of the "Old School" Who Keeps Up With the Times.

Many people have poor teeth, weak gums, sore teeth and other bothersome troubles that prevent a vigorous mastication of food. And instead of eating soft, mushy food that palls on the appetite they go in for those savory dishes the very odor of which starts the saliva and makes the stomach fairly revel with anticipation.

This is but a natural condition. Anything else borders upon the indifference which fosters indigestion and chronic dyspepsia.

It may be safely said that it should not be a question of diet or kind of food, or teeth or even any of the reflexes which are supposed to have their influence in deranging the stomach. It is simply a matter of supplying the stomach and digestive organs with those known assistants such as pepsin, and hydrochloric acid, both of which have a direct and powerful action upon the contents of the stomach.

One grain of a single ingredient in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. This saves your stomach and gives it the rest it needs. All muscles require occasional rest—they are ever over-taxed. The stomach is no exception to this rule.

Try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and you will wonder how you ever got along without them. They are sold at 50 cents by all druggists everywhere.

ALL CLINTON AWAITS WALSH

CLINTON, Nov. 6.—Clinton voters, irrespective of politics, met today and arranged a grand welcome home tonight for David I. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor-elect. They are going to "whoop it up for Dave" from the moment he arrives.

The popularity of the new Lieutenant-Governor in his home town is shown by the fact that Republicans and Bull Moosers are joining with the Democrats in the Walsh celebration.

The women and girls are interested especially the girls. The fact that "Dave" is a bachelor has been a campaign feature. He has been polled up and about remaining single and has been warned that a bachelor cannot hope to get elected to the State ticket. But he has nailed that falsehood right on the head.

However, "Dave" is more interesting than ever to the feminine contingent, now that he is Lieutenant-Governor. The girls plan to come out to the celebration in force.

Professional and business men met in the Board of Trade rooms to arrange the Walsh welcome. Patrick F. Cannon presided and appointed the following executive committee to make immediate plans:

Chairman William A. Fuller, Republican. Secretary N. F. Murrell, Bull Mooser.

Arlie W. Castance, chairman Republican Town Committee.

C. F. Fairbanks, Jr., Republican.

Lawrence Furr, Democrat.

So the executive committee represented all three parties. The committee retired and soon reported a program which was adopted unanimously.

When "Dave" Walsh arrives here at 7:30 he will be met at the Union Station by a band and parade, headed by Major Peter J. Cannon.

The successful candidate will be escorted through the principal streets, past his home on Water street and to the Municipal building when a celebration meeting will take place.

Lawrence Furr will call the meeting to order. Judge Lawrence Smith will preside. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Edward J. Fitzgerald and former Attorney-General Herbert Parker. Then "Dave" Walsh will be invited to make a few remarks to his fellow-citizens.

"A CAUSE TRIUMPHS."

Wilson Feels "Solemn Responsibility."

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—Speaking to 4,000 hurrahing friends and neighbors, including many college men, President-elect Wilson said late last night:

We have gone headlong in the progress of this country, and our very prosperity has betrayed us into doing some things, into taking some paths which we ought not to have taken. There is much to reconstruct, and the reconstruction must be undertaken so justly, so confidentially, by SLOW PROCESS OF COMMON COUNSEL, THAT A GENERATION MUST WORK OUT WHAT RESULT MUST BE ACHIEVED.

The lesson of this election is a lesson of responsibility. I believe very heartily that a great cause has triumphed, that the AmeRican people know what they want, and that when they know what they want they have the same and the purpose to attain it; but that they cannot get what they want through the activities of a single man or a single session of Congress or a single group of men. They must get it by long, tedious efforts in which this generation will take so important a part.

I myself have no feeling of triumph tonight. I have a feeling of solemn responsibility. I know that a great task lies ahead of men associated with me and ahead of myself.

"A great cause has triumphed," was President-elect Wilson's message to Chairman McCombs in reply to a telegram sent by the man who has so skillfully managed the campaign of the New Jersey Governor. Governor Wilson's message said:

A great cause has triumphed. Every Democrat and every true Progressive of whatever affiliation must now lend his full force and enthusiasm to the fulfillment of the people's hope—the establishment of the people's rights.

Holiday at Princeton.

Wilson carried New Jersey by upwards of 20,000, according to the returns at the State House up to midnight. There will be a Democratic Legislature on joint ballot, which means the election of Judge William Hughes. Two out of twelve Congressmen are claimed by the Democrats.

Princeton celebrated Governor Wilson's victory by a holiday today, proclaimed by President Hibben in honor of his predecessor's triumph. Governor Wilson received a great ovation from the Princeton students when the news of his victory was received. They toted the bell in Nassau Hall, where the Continental Congress first met, a Princeton custom in celebrating a victory; they paraded to the house and cheered, and they sang "Old Nassau" for their old chief. Then they gave the "Locomotive yell." As the Governor stood before the cheering, singing students, and, his hand uplifted, moving steadily to the characteristic refrain of the song, it was evident that he was deeply moved. Beside him stood Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters, beaming with happiness.

There were tears in the eyes of Governor Wilson as he stepped to the front of his house, mounted a chair and spoke for a few minutes.

Members of the faculty and their wives and town residents joined in the demonstration. President Hibben was so delighted that he declared a holiday in the university.

Telegram from Marshall.

When the Governor went back into the house he found the following telegram from Governor Marshall:

"I salute you, my chieftain, in all love and loyalty."

Governor Wilson replied:

"Warmest thanks of your generous telegram. Your part in the campaign was a source of great strength and stimulation. Now for the deep pleasure of close association in a great work of national service."

The Governor and Mrs. Wilson entertained their guests at a buffet luncheon just before midnight. The Governor retired at 12:45, saying he was going to sleep until noon.

Friends who were with the Governor while the returns were coming in during the evening found difficulty in getting him to concede that he had won the election.

Dudley S. Malone, son-in-law of Senator O'Gorman of New York, came out of the room where the returns were being read and said, laughingly: "The Governor refuses to be elected."

MICHIGAN RESULTS STILL DOUBTFUL

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 6.—Michigan was still in doubt today. Returns were slower, both in the city and up-State, than in many years, owing to the voting for constitutional amendments. Roosevelt's margin over Wilson is now more than 2,000. Taft is a very poor third. The most certain thing seems to be the election of Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democratic candidate for Governor. Edward Frensdorf, Democrat, appears to have been elected Congressman-at-large. The Democrats probably have lost the Fifth District, giving it to Mapes, Republican, a plurality of a few hundred over Congressman Sweet.

RETURNS IN IOWA GIVE WILSON HOPE

DES MOINES, Nov. 6.—Returns at 6 o'clock this morning indicated that Woodrow Wilson has carried Iowa by 10,000. State Chairman Frazee of the Progressives refuses to concede Wilson's victory.

Clark, Republican, was elected Governor by 20,000 and the entire Republican ticket carried the State. This means that Senator Kenyon will be returned.

GERMANY HOPES PRESIDENT WILSON WILL REDUCE TARIFF

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Great interest was manifested here in the American election, and extra editions of the newspapers announced the victory of Woodrow Wilson. Editorially, the papers "hoped that Mr. Wilson would succeed in reducing the tariff," and all agreed that he is a strong man and will be able to carry out his anti-trust program.

WILSON'S LEAD CUT IN MAINE

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 6.—Late returns in Maine today showed Wilson leading Roosevelt, but with a slightly reduced plurality.

The returns from 474 cities and towns out of 531 today were:

Wilson	49,885
Roosevelt	47,408
Taft	25,894
Total vote	122,895
Wilson's plurality over Roosevelt, 2,279.

There are forty-seven cities and towns to hear from.

The total vote of the three leading parties for President bids fair to reach 125,000, which will be the largest since the Civil War. This would be an increase of 23,000 over the last presidential poll.

Two twenty cities of the State did the trick for the Democrats. The Wilson plurality over Roosevelt in the cities was about 5,000.

Princeton Students Parade and Build Fires to Celebrate

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—With a holiday granted by President Hibben because of the outcome of yesterday's voting, the Princeton students remained up until the small hours of the morning celebrating the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency.

Bonfires were started in Nassau street, the principal thoroughfare of the town, and these were built into great blazing piles that lighted the entire town. The fires burned till daylight and some of them later. There was no effort on the part of the police to curb the boys in their enthusiasm.

Toward dawn the students hustled to their rooms, snatched a brief sleep and almost before sunrise they were up again, organizing parades, their favorite pastime, and making the day after election memorable to Princeton.

They recalled that the last Princeton man elected to the Presidency was James Madison.

While the celebration was in progress the President-elect was piling up twelve solid hours of sleep. He arose at 12:30 a. m. with instructions that he was not to be disturbed until noon.

The modest little cottage of the President-elect in Cleveland Lane took on an aspect of importance today and hundreds of visitors came in hope of getting a glimpse of the new ruler of the nation.

President-elect Wilson is planning a journey for the purpose of seeking rest. This may take him to Bermuda.

FATE OF THE "GRAND OLD PARTY" PROBLEM FOR CHIEFS TO SOLVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—What will be the fate of the Republican party?

That is the question which politicians and political experts here today are trying to solve. The result of the national election put it up squarely to the National Republican leaders as the most vital issue of the day.

Republican leaders deny that the smashing blows administered by the Democratic and Progressive parties have annihilated Republicanism beyond recall. President Taft has already sounded the rallying cry from Cincinnati. He said:

While an experiment of a change in the tariff is being carried out by the Democratic administration, it behooves Republicans to gather again to the party standard and pledge anew their faith in their party's principles and to organize again to defend the constitutional government handed down to us by our fathers.

We must make clear to the young men of the country who have been weaned away from sound principles of government by promise of reforms impossible of accomplishment by mere legislation, that patriotism and common sense require them to return to the support of our constitution. Without compromising our principles, we must confess and win back former Republicans, and we must reinforce our ranks with the constitution-loving Democrats.

Mr. Taft makes it evident that the Republican party will continue the "conservative" party of the United States and will continue to stand as "the loyal defenders of the Constitution."

William Barnes, Jr., one of the foremost Republican leaders in the East, has already united his voice with that of President Taft. In a post-election statement Mr. Barnes declared that any injuries done the Republican party by the intrusion of the Bull Moose into the campaign are only temporary.

WILL RECOUNT VERMONT VOTE

MONTPELIER, Nov. 6.—On account of the peculiar situation and close vote for President in yesterday's election it is expected that there will be a recount in this State, although the result could not make any difference to President-elect Wilson.

According to returns that are regarded as complete, President Taft carries the State with a narrow plurality of 924 votes over Colonel Roosevelt. Wilson ran between 7,000 and 8,000 votes behind them.

This is the vote as it has been totalled here, but there are chances that there will be some minor changes:

Taft, 23,247.

Roosevelt, 22,323.

Wilson, 15,397.

Taft thus corrals the four electors of this State. The vote of the Bull Moosers was a surprise in this old stamping ground of the G. O. P. elephant. Governor Fletcher, Republican, carried the State by a plurality of 10,608.

Record Expansion by Big Boston Bank

First National Doubles Its Space

Bank Headed by Daniel G. Wing Ready for Increased Exchange When New Liners Come.

The prospective coming to Boston of the Hamburg-American line and of other extensive steamship business has caused the financial institutions in the city to take cognizance note of the possibilities in the increase of foreign exchange.

In connection with this situation, it is a matter of interested comment by Boston bankers that a bank which has just shown tremendous financial and physical development is one which makes a feature of foreign exchange, and which, therefore, is in a position to take natural advantage of the coming increase in foreign trade.

This bank is the First National, which has just taken over the four lower floors and basement of the new ten-story building it erected adjoining its new home at the corner of Federal, Franklin and Congress streets.

That any bank, so soon after completing a new bank structure proper, should erect a ten-story building next door and then proceed to expand into the lower half of said addition, is regarded as remarkable.

Massive Deposit Vaults.

But President Daniel G. Wing and the directors of the First National deemed it best to provide for ever-growing needs. By taking the first four stories and basement of the ten-story addition and by throwing the two structures into one they have practically doubled their banking space.

The six upper floors of the ten-story addition have been rented on ten-year leases, which takes care of the immediate future of the upper half of the property.

In the enlarged bank the most interesting feature to the general public is doubtless the safe deposit vaults. In the original bank they covered 2,000 feet. Now they cover 5,400. They are the last word in impregnable, burglar-proof steel and masonry.

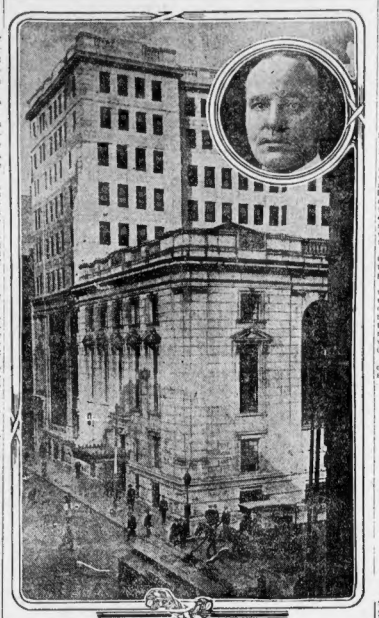
Contrasting with the massive strength of the vaults are the coupon department rooms adjoining, where comfort and convenience of customers are given every consideration.

President Wing, is a native of Lincoln, Nebraska. He is only forty-four years old. His life is an exemplification of the saying: "Youth will be served." He began right at the foot of the banking ladder. When he was seventeen he started as messenger in the State National Bank in his home town.

Five years later, at twenty-two, he was cashier of the Americus National Bank of Nebraska. At twenty-nine he was appointed a national bank examiner by the late President McKinley. He was receiver for the Broadway and Globe banks of Boston and, when these institutions had been liquidated, was elected president of the reorganized First National Bank, in 1903.

The annual statements of the First National since that time are successive proofs of Mr. Wing's sound ability as a banker. Deposits have increased from $2,000,000 to the staggering figure of over $70,000,000. Careful adherence to a definite, straightforward policy, coupled with enterprising expansion along legitimate banking lines, have brought the First National to its present commanding position under Mr. Wing's administration.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AND ITS PRESIDENT.



TURKS AGAIN BADLY ROUTED

SOFIA, Nov. 6.—Another crushing defeat has been inflicted upon the Turkish army, retreating into the Tchataldja forts on the northern outskirts of Constantinople, by Czar Ferdinand's advancing Bulgarian army.

More than 25,000 soldiers are reported to have been killed and wounded on both sides. Official dispatches from the front state that the casualties were heavier than in the great battle at Lule Burgas.

Several battalions of the main Turkish army, which had already fallen back to the protecting guns at Tchataldja, went to the front and reinforced the Turks on the battle line, only to be driven pell-mell from the field.

Fighting began yesterday and continued incessantly until today, when, under a fierce bayonet charge the Turkish lines broke and the rout began.

With greater courage than they have shown at any time since the Adrianople campaign opened, the Turks stood their ground under a six-hour bombardment, during which Bulgarian cannon thundered volley after volley of death-dealing shrapnel into the Ottoman ranks. Huge windrows of dead were piled up by the Bulgarian shells, but the Turkish regulars closed up the gap and awaited the charge which they knew was to follow.

Reports from the Bulgarian army say that the Turks made no effort to charge upon the Bulgarian batteries and capture the guns.

When the wave of Bulgarian steel fell upon the Turkish ranks the lines crumpled up before the bayonet charge and the soldiers fled. Panic suddenly seized the Sultan's soldiers. Throwing away their guns, they made no effort to recover from the rout into which they were thrown and were driven within the last defence of Constantinople.

Princess Helen, wife of Prince Nicholas of Greece, who has returned to the front, said before leaving Larissa:

We passed at a station a train taking a number of wounded to Athens. I shall never forget the sight. Wounded men were placed on the train on stretchers and left to themselves, unable to move.

They had no nurse and not even a mouthful of water to relieve their thirst. We did what we could. We changed their bandages and tried to relieve their sufferings by arranging the men less uncomfortably, and left a nurse to accompany the train to Athens.

I was particularly impressed by the Greek volunteers from America. They flocked cheerfully to help Greece in the time of need. It was a magnificent and comforting spectacle.

The final result will, I hope, be the entry of the allies into Constantinople and the expulsion of the Turks from Europe forever. The horrors they have perpetrated in the present war, the unspeakable atrocities committed on women and children, put them outside the pale of humanity.

"To Victors Belong the Spoils"

$40,000 Awaits Contest Winners

By THE CONTEST EDITOR.

"To the victors belong the spoils."

Years ago this was a famous campaign slogan and it's right that it should be, because victory is always the result of hard work and earnest conscientious effort.

Some of the spoils in the AMERICAN'S great $40,000 Contest will be distributed one week from next Saturday. In ten days more 100 hustling candidates will share in a cash distribution of over $1,500.

And this is only the immediate reward for your efforts. The final rewards, ranging from $10,000 cash to $1,000 and down the scale of 7,501 prizes will be earned by just the same conscientious effort that will capture the special prizes.

The watchword for the next ten days is "NOVEMBER 16." Ten twelve-months' subscriptions a day for the next ten days is not an impossibility—and see what it means—250,000 votes.

Effort Wins Success.

Everything in this life that is worth having requires effort and work. Any candidate who expects to sit idle and have subscriptions pile in is certain to be disappointed.

Look around you. See the men and women who have accomplished big things. How did they get in the enviable positions they hold today? This is the answer—pluck, ambition, WORK.

In ten days more some candidate will be presented with $500 in gold cash, some other candidate with $250, another $150, a fourth $100, a fifth $50, a sixth $25 and ninety-four others $5 each. And these are only EXTRA prizes.

The polls will close for the first vote list one week from next Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Only votes and subscriptions received up to Saturday, November 16, at 10 p. m., will be counted in compiling this first vote list. With the publication of the first vote standing will come the announcement of the winners of the Special Cash Prizes.

Ten hundred will win—in less than two weeks. The right kind of effort in the next ten days will accomplish wonders. Even a candidate who has turned in only one subscription can obtain an enviable position in the first vote list by making every minute count from now until one week from Saturday.

Don't Hold Subscriptions.

Don't wait until the last minute. Send in your subscriptions as fast as you get them. The sooner we receive the others, the sooner the subscribers will get their papers.

Another entire page of candidate's photographs will be published in next Sunday's AMERICAN. Contestants' photographs are being published daily and Sunday, so don't overlook this opportunity to give publicity to your campaign. The publication of your picture will bring surprising results. You will get subscriptions and coupon votes from sources that you never even thought of.

If you haven't a suitable picture come in and get an order for one which will entitle you to a sitting at the Otto Sarony Company, No. 146 Tremont street, Boston. If unable to call for this order, send for it by mail.

What you need, dear candidates, is will power, real perseverance and a proper backing of your campaigns. With these it is impossible for you to lose.

"I would like to win the $500" is the wrong spirit. "I AM GOING to win the $500" is the one overpowering idea that should be foremost in the minds of every candidate.

Results count, and on the result of your work in the next ten days, as evidenced in the first vote list, your supporters will judge you.

Let Them Enthuse.

Give them a candidate to enthuse over. Let them see your name well up at the top of the first vote standing and the spirit of SUCCESS will grip your each and every follower.

Let your motto be "Ten subscriptions a day for the next ten days," and you CAN do it! If you do, it means not only immediate cash awards but a glittering pile of $10,000 in gold brought to your door.

Ordinarily, elections in New Bedford do not mean much, because it is taken for granted that Mayor Charles S. Ashley will still be Mayor after the polls have closed. But there is an election going on right now in New Bedford that has stirred the city from one end to the other. And that is the local fight of the New Bedford candidates in the $40,000 Contest.

Lester D. Crocker, an attache of the Union Street Railway of New Bedford, is one of the candidates responsible for the excitement in the whaling city. He is a clerk in the Union Street Railway office and a member of the Union Street Railway Relief Association.

He is a member of the Order of Red Men and Provision Clerks' Association. His campaign motto is a good one. He says: "I haven't any time to worry about the other candidates, but I sincerely hope that they will all worry about me, because every minute they use in doing so is a minute taken away from the precious ones remaining before the first vote list appears. Keep your eye on Crocker—he will not disappoint his followers."

How to Stop a Cough

Something Every Mother Should Know

Every mother should watch over the health of her family as jealously as she guards the family morals. At the first symptom of a cough or cold, shake together in a large bottle a couple of ounces of glycerine, half an ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine and about half a pint of pure whiskey.

Give the patient a teaspoonful of this simple and harmless remedy every four hours. The first dose almost invariably brings instant relief, and the cold is generally expelled from the system inside of twenty-four hours. A supply of this medicine should always be kept in the medicine cabinet to prevent the development of serious infections of the throat and bronchials.

You probably have the glycerine and whiskey in the house already, and you can get the Virgin Oil of Pine at any drug store. To insure freshness and purity insist on having the half-ounce vials which come in sealed wooden cartons bearing the label of

By Enough Americans to Make a President. —O'SULLIVAN'S

From one Election Day to another many Americans walk on a springy pathway of

O'Sullivan's Heels Of New Live Rubber

A light and bouyant walk has a money value. Employers like men and women who walk as if they meant business; everybody likes to deal with people who move quickly and silently, and who show their efficiency in manner and bearing.

But the greatest value of the natural O'Sullivan walk is not in money—but in health.

O'Sullivan's Heels of New, Live Rubber save the delicate machinery of the nervous system from shocks and jars. They are to the human body precisely what a rubber tire is to an automobile—and you know that an automobile would not keep out of the scrap-heap long without tires to absorb the jolts and jars of travel.

Those who wear O'Sullivan's Heels find that they can walk further and longer and do more in a day with less fatigue than ever before in their lives.

The moral of these plain facts is:

O'Sullivanize Your Walk

Take your shoes to the nearest cobbler and have him equip them with O'Sullivan's Heels. They will cost fifty cents, attached, and are invisible, so the appearance of the shoe is not changed.

Then get out and walk in the crisp Fall air and watch yourself grow in optimism as well as in appetite.

The idea is simple: O'Sullivan's Heels of New, Live Rubber—and that means rubber with all the spring in it—give your heels the soft, resilient cushion that Nature intended you to have. They change a shoe from a clumsy, stiff contrivance to a flexible, easy-going mechanism for walking.

ST. MARK'S-GROTON MEET IN ANNUAL BATTLE ON GRIDIRON

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

TWO STAR MATCHES WILL BE PLAYED IN CITY LEAGUE

BRIEF SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

By RILEY

ATHLETIC COACH JOSEPH H. THOMPSON of the University of Pittsburgh has adopted the long-established rule of Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates and forbidden the use of liquor and cigarettes by his athletes. "Cigarettes shorten the wind and rob the young man of that ambition and keenness of mind which are absolutely essential to success," says Thompson. True, but who is big enough to prevent college athletes and big league ball tossers smoking the paper pipe? Clarke thinks he has succeeded, but so do most of the other athletic bosses. They're kidding themselves.

* * *

NEITHER Boston major league team has anti-cigarette or anti-liquor rules. Yet there is as little excess in both teams as in the Pirates, whose rules are iron-clad, and among the Cubs, whom Charley Murphy insists must be total abstainers, by the law of the club.

* * *

NEITHER Jake Stahl nor Johnny Kling inhaled cigarettes or drinking last season. The "antis" might use the tail-end position of the Pilgrims as an argument for such a rule, but for the dilemma of accounting for the triumph of the world champion Red Sox, who played similarly without such regulations.

* * *

BOTH Stahl and Kling took their players as they found them, and made no attempt to alter acquired personal habits. They trusted the men to avoid excessive indulgence. In the whole season, in which more than sixty players worked for the Boston teams, less than a half dozen incidents occurred which led to suspicion of over-indulgence. In no case did a player appear on the field with evidence of too much dissipation.

* * *

WHILE neither team ruled out "booze" or cigarettes, the players of both assumed that too much drinking or smoking would bring down the managerial wrath. So they nearly always avoided excess. Whenever they were on the road, and therefore close to the manager, they did the most of their little drinking without regard to whether the manager saw them or not. But when they felt an overwhelming desire for a cigarette they usually indulged in secret. They still seemed to be ashamed to be seen smoking cigarettes. On the road, most of the players of both teams carried the regulation college pipes.

* * *

WHILE big leaguers are not heavy drinkers or excessive cigarette smokers, most of them patronize the old timers—chew tobacco on the diamond. If they don't use the weed, they usually chew gum. They declare that it keeps their throats steady and occupies their attention while waiting for plays.

* * *

SO far as known, neither the Red Sox nor Pilgrims have men with "anti-booze" contracts. One of the best players of the world champions was signed with such a contract, in which he agreed not to drink during the playing season on pain of forfeiting a part of his salary. Since he faithfully kept his agreement, the clause was withdrawn from his contract two seasons ago, and he has been almost as abstemious—he has been persistently sober, Winter and Summer, in fact—ever since. The name of this player is not mentioned as, under the circumstances, it would be unfair and a gratuitous insult even to hint at his identity.

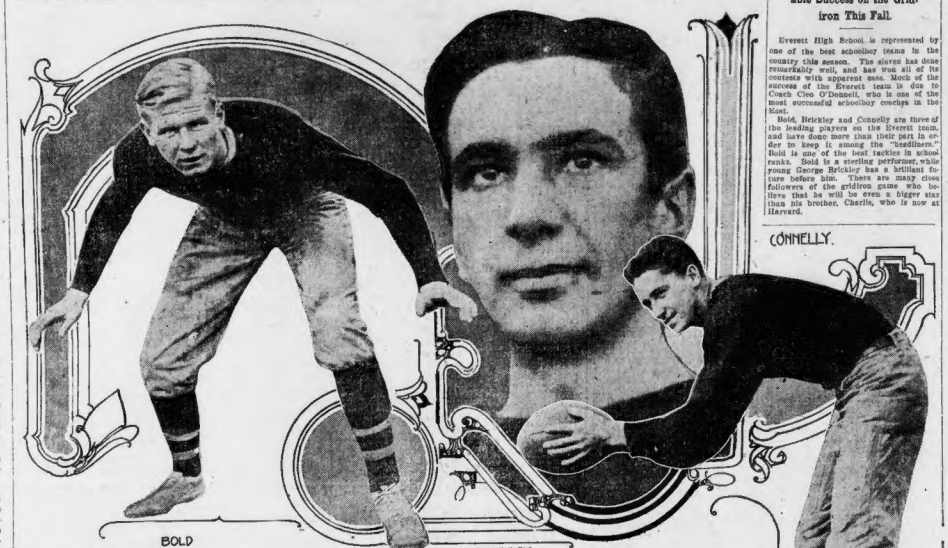
TRIO OF EVERETT HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL STARS

CLEO O'DONNELL HAS ONE OF THE BEST ELEVENS IN COUNTRY IN FIGHT FOR TITLE

HERE ARE THREE OF THE PLAYERS WHO HAVE ENABLED EVERETT TO MAKE GREAT RECORD.



Everett Boys Have Had Remarkable Success on the Gridiron This Fall.

Everett High School is represented by one of the best schoolboy teams in the country this season. The eleven has done remarkably well, and has won all of its contests with apparent ease. Much of the success of the Everett team is due to Coach Cleo O'Donnell, who is one of the most successful schoolboy coaches in the East.

Bold, Brickley and Connelly are three of the leading players on the Everett team, and have done more than their part in order to keep it among the "headliners." Bold is one of the best tackles in school ranks. Bold is a sterling performer, while young George Brickley has a brilliant future before him. There are many close followers of the gridiron game who believe that he will be even a bigger star than his brother, Charlie, who is now at Harvard.

GREAT STRUGGLE IN 6-DAY GRIND

The great six-day bike race at the Arena got under way shortly after noon today and some thrilling riding is expected by the lovers of the game. The teams are still bunched and the battle for the big money is sure to be a nerve-racking affair.

Great Racing This Morning

The racing early this morning was of the sensational nature, and the result was that three of the teams were lapped. I o'clock, Ryan then set sail after Root. He was followed closely by Drobach and Wells.

A terrific pace was kept up for over fifteen minutes, and at the end of this time the Altdorf-Collins, Diefenbacker-Carman and Gardellini-Loftus teams had been lapped.

The final mile sprint of the evening was captured by Fred Hill. A crowd of over 4,000 persons saw the racing and cheered the rivals wildly.

St. Marks Battles Groton

Both Teams Hope for Win

LINEUP FOR BIG SCHOOL GAME.

GROTON.		ST. MARKS.
Nichols, left guard		right guard, Kent
Clark, centre		centre, Thatcher
Duncan, right guard		left guard, Burr
Taylor, quarter back		quarter back, Landon
Coolidge, left halfback		right halfback, Herriman
Duryee, fullback		fullback, Horne

The big school game of the football world today was the annual game between St. Marks and Groton. A record breaking crowd turned out to see the rivals battle, and as it was the twenty-fourth game between these schools interest ran high.

St. Marks won last year's game by a score of 5 to 0 and Captain Fred Graham says that the boys were confident of winning this year. The first game between these schools was arranged in 1880 in which Groton was returned the winner by the score of 10 to 0.

St. Marks has taken only six of the games, while their rivals have won seventeen games out of the total number played. There was one game that resulted in a tie, while in 1901 there was no game played.

Captain Duryee of the Groton squad did not make any predictions as to the result of the game, but he gives the impression that his team will likely spring a few surprises on the St. Marks team, which is considerably heavier than its opponents.

Graham and Coolidge, the ends, appear to have a shade on the Groton ends. With Colkert, Caner and Cunningham, the St. Marks team have a fine bunch of tackles, as both boys have the build of college players, being over six feet tall.

Kent at right guard is the heaviest player in the two schools. Thatcher at centre has proved himself to be a star of strength. At quarter back Landon has shown up wonderfully well. Fullback Horne is a fine line backer.

SCHOOLBOY SPORT AND GOSSIP

The Andover-Exeter football game will be the big school game for this week. These two teams are to meet Saturday, and from all reports Andover is a slight favorite.

Coach W. H. Lillard is not making predictions, but says that the team is up to the standard.

Andover followers are depending on William Neilson to prove a ground gainer for the team. Warren Mooney, the former Roxbury boy, filled the position of halfback in first-class shape.

Springfield Shows Strong.

The Springfield High School team has developed into a fast team this year under Coach Metsdorf. Last Saturday they presented a style of plays that had never been seen on a Springfield gridiron. They bewildered the Adams High School team with whom they were playing.

Bangor Comes to Front.

The Bangor High football team of which little has been said this year has a strong combination on the gridiron, as the Waltham game showed last Saturday.

Waltham has only been defeated once this year and then by a small score, yet the Bangor team defeated the Watch City boys by a large score. A game between Bangor and Everett would be one of the best seen in school football circles for some time.

Gould Star at Exeter.

The Exeter team does not look to be up to the standard of last year's team. Harry Gould of Hyde Park is making good at the position of end and many claim him the equal of any of the school football players. With him is Dunn, the former Fall River High player, and the pair are able to take care of those two positions.

St. Marks the Favorite.

St. Marks is picked to defeat the Groton team at Groton in their annual game on account of their fine work this season. Captain Graham hails from Pennsylvania and plays end. It was due to his work last year that they won the annual game over Groton.

Medford in Fine Shape.

Medford at times has shown wonderful form this season, only to revert to the work of a mediocre team Ralph Kendall is out in an effort to whip the team into shape for the Somerville game. The Medford team is much lighter than their opponents.

Somerville Ready for Battle.

The Somerville High team has a wonderful trio and a remarkable pair of tackles, and Medford, Malden and Everett will have to play the game of their lives to win from them.

Coach Mahoney is only shy of a good quarterback in order to win the interscholastic title.

Everett to Play Malden.

Captain George Brickley of Everett is not saying much about the chances of his team which meets Malden in the Suburban League series next Saturday. A large crowd of rooters will be out for both teams are favorites.

Runners at Arlington.

Arlington High has as usual turned out a marvelous cross-country team again this Fall. In defeating the Harvard freshman team they accomplished a fine piece of work. Goldsmith, with his team mate Zwinga, bids fair to be heard from in the athletic world.

Goldsmith's time was 18:14 for the distance, which broke the record by six seconds. Zwinga was only 3-5 of a second behind his team-mate.

Cambridge Title at Stake.

The championship of Cambridge is to be decided on Friday of this week, when Cambridge High and Latin meets Rindge Technical on Tufts Oval.

RIVALS IN BIG ALLEY MATCHES

Patrons of the City Bowling League have their choice of rolling good matches tonight, in which the four leading teams take part. The Chauncy leaders will meet Carruth and Boylston will be entertained at the Casino Alleys.

It is seldom that two such matches fall on the same evening, and it is safe to say that both will be well attended. The possibilities which confront all four teams will make them strive much harder, and several high scores should result.

The teams are closely bunched, and there may be several changes in the standing. Chauncy leads Boylston by a margin of two points, and the latter is but two points ahead of Carruth and Casino, which are tied for third place.

If Carruth should take all four points from Chauncy, although this does not seem possible, and Casino bests Boylston for a clean-up, a triple tie will result, with Carruth, Chauncy and Casino in the running. On the other hand, if Casino loses four to Boylston and Carruth takes everything from Chauncy, Boylston will take the lead.

Teams Evenly Matched.

All four teams are very evenly matched and only an off night for one of them would make the matches one sided. Carruth and Casino are excellent rollers on the home alleys, but you can never tell what the visiting teams will do.

Only a few weeks ago a case of this kind happened. Crimo was a strong favorite over Chauncy, but the latter swept the boards with Ben McPhee's quintet. It was not that the Casino team was not in form, for it was. It rolled above par, but Chauncy had the fever that night and rolled down several old league records. The same may happen tonight.

Another League to Start.

The Manchester Daily L. O. O. F. League will begin work next Wednesday at the Beacon Chamber alleys. This is the third season. The league is composed of eight local lodges and several well known bowlers have been added to the ranks. Among these are Walter Lee of the Hayward City League team, Crentas and Locke, who won honors at Campbell's side partner in Lowell. The Beacon Chamber alleys have been remodeled and present a much better appearance than heretofore.

Orientals and Vulcans Winning.

Will some one kindly put a step to the Oriental and Vulcan teams of the A. O. U. W. League? The former team has been breaking records right and left of late, while the latter has lost but one game. Hope there will be something doing at tonight's meeting at the New Boston alleys.

Carl Poehler Also a Star.

Carl Poehler, a brother of the renowned Paul, is doing exceptionally well in the Newspaper League this season. Carl is the anchor for the AMERICAN team and hitting the pins for an average well up in the 90's.

Marquette Hopes for Win.

Pere Marquette of the K. of C. League hopes for another decisive win at the Columbus alleys tonight. It appears that his team cannot be stopped. Everett tried hard last week and succeeded in tieing one kink and now it's up to Mt. Benedict.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS

By A. H. C. MITCHELL

Baseball managers are frequently the victims of ingratitude. Probably the most flagrant case on record was the treatment of old Pop Anson, by A. G. Spalding, one of the "fathers of baseball." After years of faithful work as manager of the Chicago National League Club he was cast aside as though he was the fifth card of a four-flush before the draw.

Just now the baseball public is interested in the canning of Frank Chance as manager of the Cubs by President Murphy and Roger Bresnahan as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals by Mrs. Helene Britton, owner of that organization. Here is the way one of Chicago's most noted fans put it:

"Chance made money hand over fist for Murphy. Still Murphy fired him bag and baggage. How can beat that? You just can't and that's all there is to it.

"Chance succeeded Frank Selee as manager of the Chicago club several years ago and started off by winning the National League championship with the team Selee left him. He won four pennants and two world's championships and lost two world's series clashes. The Cubs, under Chance, have been one of the busiest money-making teams in the game. Chance's salary when he quit was $8,000 a year. True, Chance held $10,000 worth of stock in the club. This stock has earned 200 to 300 per cent. dividends every season for Chance. Frank sold his stock for $40,000 soon after he and Murphy agreed to disagree. The trouble between Chance and Murphy was the manager's demand for more salary.

"Chance has been itching for a raise ever since he got wind of the $18,000 a year the Detroit club paid Jennings and the $10,000 the St. Louis club paid Roger Bresnahan. The idea of Bresnahan getting $10,000 a year in addition to ten per cent. of the profits of the club made Chance green with envy. His friends told him it was an outrage for him to work for $8,000 a year while Bresnahan, who never had a team in the first division, was drawing more than twice that amount. Then when the 'Peerless Leader' insisted on getting a salary boost, Murphy worked himself in a frenzy and decided the Cubs needed a new manager.

"In the case of Bresnahan his friends also consider that he has been harshly treated by Mrs. Britton," continued the Chicago fan. "Of course, Roger has no such record as Chance, but you've got to hand it to him for managing up a financial winner three out of four years he had control of the Cards. Bresnahan must have made big money for Mrs. Britton in 1911 or the lady never would have given him the big contract he signed last Fall, which called for $10,000 salary and ten per cent. of the profit. The Cards did not fare very well this season, but Roger is not entitled to all the blame for the club's failure.

"Many staunch supporters of the team contend that if Roger had been permitted to run the club as he knew like he did in 1911 the team would have finished in the first division and made big money for its owner.

"Mrs. Britton's attorney charge that Bresnahan hurt the team by not playing regularly himself. There is no question but that Bresnahan was much stronger with Bresnahan behind the bat, but I don't take any stock in the stories that Roger sulked, and bored himself to get even with Mrs. Britton.

I think Roger has received harsh treatment from the fans, and that she will realize the fact herself some day. Without a doubt Chance as a manager is not to be compared with Chance's. Bresnahan in the same boat as far as ingratitude is concerned. Murphy slammed Chance and Mrs. Britton seems to have thrown the harpoon about as deep as any man ever got it."

The work of the all-star-class football in its work in a long session of scrimmage. Pishon was in togs for the first time since the Princeton game and took part in the preliminary work. Murphy, Hinman, Dunmer and Lafferty have been taken to the training table.

Harvard Should Beat Yale in Big Clash on Gridiron

By DAMON RUNYON.

AT this unearthly hour, when the Boston Bulgars are just awakening from the excitement attending the loot of the town, and wondering what they said and did down in that Brewster rathskeller, and also how much they spent, and while the Princeton Tutes are still fleeing disjointedly toward Atlantic City, we arise to cruelly propound a conundrum.

Enclosed herewith, please find same:

If Princeton defeats Yale and Yale defeats Harvard, how much are we bid for the football championship title of 1912?

HARVARD SHOULD BOTHER YALE.

This is a fine puzzle to push at people convalescing from a celebration, but duty compels. The Tiger has a chance to trim the Bulldog, and the canine is ever liable to bite his address in the crimson blankets.

Thus we relapse into a high fever of uncertainty until the Yale-Princeton encounter is over.

Harvard should give Yale one of those close decision trimmings this year, if the showing of the two teams to date can be taken as the basis of the poison. But Harvard always has to contend with a strong New Haven prejudice against anything or anybody from Cambridge doing anything or anybody in the city which Mr. Charles S. Mellen kindly included on his right of way.

The Blue eleven is classed as an enigma, which is no serious an affliction in football as it is in the dictionary, and it will take the Princeton game to develop all the flims of weakness as well as strength.

Even then the Harvard eleven will still be handicapped when it faces the Bulldog by the fact that it comes from Harvard, which is a very grave offence in the eyes of Yale.

Felton a Great Kicker.

While the youthful, square-toed Charlie Brickley kicked a hole in the door of football fame large enough to admit the entire town of Everett, whence he hails, we find that it was the No. 14 boot of another young man in that same Saturday which really boosted the parade.

We refer to one Felton, of left-end fame, whose leggy lifts over the chief subject of a rueful discussion among the Tigers after the catastrophe.

"Felton seemed to be place the ball wherever he wanted to, and that was usually where we wasn't," commented a young Jerseyite with a swollen nose and no great grammatical finesse. "He lifted it at the most amazing angles, and it was the hardest ball to buttle I ever saw.

"Brickley? Yes, he's a beer—but that Felton must have been born kicking. Brickley gets his shots away so fast that it is almost impossible to break through and block him.

"It's a mighty helpless feeling to see a bird like that drop back and know he's going to kick. You can't do much of anything but stand still and watch the ball float over."

Harvard Depends on Kicking.

Kicking defeated the Tigers, and kicking will probably be the route picked by Harvard when it travels toward the Yale goal.

With a man like Brickley constantly cracking away from all angles and all ranges, the Blue eleven will have something to say if it frees start to finish.

Brickley was used with good judgment during the Princeton game, except that it seemed he was worked too hard, and too long, and it finally resulted in him being laid out completely.

As long as field goals count in the scoring, and as long as scoring is the main thing desired by a football team, it seems like excellent generalship to keep a wonderful booter like Brickley shooting steadily, and making him take all manner of chances, just as the Everett boy did Saturday. He may miss some, but he is also bound to land some, and Brickley's goal from the 47-yard placement shows that no distance bars him.

A touchdown is all very well, but when a team wants to win the field goals are just as useful as the touchdowns.

Brown Coaches Work Hard for Yale Game

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 6.—The Brown football team will be pushed hard today and tomorrow in preparation for its game with Yale on Saturday. Brown did not show up well against Vermont last Saturday and if the team does not give Yale a hard battle it will not be the fault of the coaches.

The men were given a long drill in signals yesterday. A number of new men were placed in the varsity lineup and their work was closely watched by the coaches. No scrimmage was held yesterday, but the men will be given a hard workout this afternoon in which they will be sent through the formations which they will use in their battle with the New Haven collegians.

ONLY 5 MONTHS MORE AND THEN 'PLAY BALL'

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The major league baseball season of 1913 will begin on April 10. Selection of this date was announced as the result of an agreement between President Lynch of the National and President Johnson of the American League, who, under the national agreement, are authorized to determine this starting point for the framing of major league schedules.

Plans Complete for Davis Trophy Match

The British Isles lawn tennis challengers will play the Australasian defenders for the Davis International Challenge Cup at Melbourne, Australia, on November 28, 29 and 30. The British team is composed of Charles P. Dixon, John C. Parke, F. G. Lowe and A. E. Beamish. All of these players have competed in America and have yielded to the foremost American players, notably Maurice E. McLaughlin and William A. Larned.

The rating of the leading Britons for the season, which has just been issued in London, does not favor a victory over the Australasians led by Norman E. Brooks, who is considered the best player in the world.

The four men of the English team are ranked as Nos. 2, 7, 8 and 12, respectively.

Mandot Has Won Right to Meet Ad in Title Bout

By JACK CONWAY

JOE MANDOT, the wonderful French lightweight who hails from New Orleans, has earned the right to meet Champion Ad Wolgast in a twenty-round bout on the Coast, where a referee's decision can be given. The Southern youth is now the logical opponent for the Michigan terror in his next championship bout.

Several promoters are already angling for the go. Just now, however, it looks as though Wolgast and Mandot would clash at Vernon, Cal., some time the first of next year.

MANDOT HAS GREAT RING FUTURE.

New Orleans, of course, would like to see the battle, but only ten-round contests are permitted in the big city on this side of the Mason and Dixon line, and it is a well known fact that Wolgast will never agree to meet a man of Mandot's caliber and permit a decision to be rendered in anything but a twenty-round bout.

The Frenchman is signed to clash with Joe Rivers in a twenty-round engagement on the Coast Thanksgiving Day. Therefore it will be impossible for him to meet the prince of the 133 pounders until late in December or early in January of next year.

Mandot Was Easy Winner.

Of course, there is a possibility that Mandot may be vanquished by Rivers when they meet on Turkey Day, but I do not believe that the Mexican will be able to turn the trick. When these boys met recently Mandot won with ease. He outpointed his dark-skinned opponent in almost every one of the twenty rounds.

Amateur Bouts at B. A. A.

The trials in the B. A. A. amateur boxing tournament will be pulled off at the Unicorn clubhouse tonight. Bouts will be staged in four classes, namely 105, 115, 125 and 135-pound class. There are only a few entries in the heavyweight division, so there will not be any need for holding trial bouts in this class.

A large number of entries have been received and some fast and exciting bouts are expected. The finals will be held Saturday night. This will give the survivers of the trial bouts plenty of time in which to rest up for the deciding battles.

Brooks to Battle Redmond.

The most important professional bout scheduled in New England this week will take place at Lawrence tomorrow night, where "Fighting Terry" Brooks will do his level best to take a fall out of Jack Redmond of Milwaukee.

WALTER CAMP, JR., OUT FOR SEASON

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 6.—Walter Camp, Jr., the sterling Yale ball hawk who made such a fine showing in 1910, "Dix" passed last season, is out of the 'Varsity for the season. Camp has left the Yale squad for the season as a result of a recurrence of the attack of neuritis which he sustained last summer.

Camp reported to the Yale football authorities in October and at the time he thought that his health was all right and that he would be able to do his part in bringing new honors to Yale. He did some light work but was not the Camp that made such a great record in 1911.

Camp's condition went from bad to worse and he was last forced to quit the team. He would have been a tower of strength to Yale in the games with Princeton and Harvard. Camp is well past on his feet when in condition and is a sturdy player.

The Yale team did not show up very well in practice yesterday and was unable to score on the scrub team. Evidently the men were too interested in the election to pay a great deal of attention to the gridiron game.

Ted Coy has arrived in New Haven and will help to put the eleven in shape for the coming games. Old Eli meets Brown on Saturday and the Princeton and Harvard games follow in the order named. Brown was defeated by the Crimson by the score of 30 to 10. Therefore it will be possible to get a line on the respective merits of Yale and Harvard after Saturday's game.

MULFORD BACK IN WINNING AUTO

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Election Day races at the Brighton Beach track produced many thrills and considerable excitement. Ralph Mulford landed among the prize-winners for the first time since the Vanderbilt of a year ago, when he was supposed to have retired from racing. In these events he drove a Mason car, the specially prepared racing machine that made such an excellent showing in the last Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races.

Jack Leonin, the only Boston entrant, finished sixth in the 100-mile race with the Stutz, while the 10-mile class E nonstop race was also won by Dave Lewis in a Stutz.

A summaries of the events follows:

Ten Miles—Class "C" nonstop, only one under 301 cubic inches, for Grand Prize (Brighton Trophy)—Won by Lewis (Stutz), second, Wishart (Mercedes), third, Wagner (National), time, 8:47.26.

Ten Miles—Class "E" nonstop, under 301 cubic inches—Won by Grupp (Kline), 20 seconds; second, Mulford (Mason), scratch; third, Limberg (Mercer), 10 seconds. Time, 8:47.26.

Ten Miles—Free for all; handicap—Won by Mitchell (Mason), 20 seconds; second, Lewis (Stutz), 70 seconds; third, Wishart (Mercedes), scratch. Time, 8:47.26.

One Hundred Miles—Free for all Election Day Event—Won by Ralph Mulford (Mason); second, Leland Mitchell (Mason); third, Spencer (Mercer), 98 miles; fourth, Pullen Mercer, 95 miles; fifth, Minker (Mercer), 92 miles; sixth, Le Cain (Stutz), 90 miles. Time 1:53.11.

CORNELL FEARS DARTMOUTH TEAM

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 6.—For the first season so far reveals a lack of judgment time since 1900 Dartmouth and Cornell and generalship in all three that would will play football next Saturday on Percy prove disastrous in big games.

Field, the last and only big home game Butler is the coolest and headiest football player on the squad and Cornell needs him badly. His leg is healing nicely and the coaches are hopeful that he will be himself next Saturday.

Closer athletic relations with Harvard have been talked with joy by the undergraduate body. A two years cross-country agreement has been signed and it is understood that a two years track agreement also will be arranged.

The first dual meet probably will be held here on the second Saturday in May. Cornell will run Penn and Princeton as usual. The cross-country team has arranged a dual meet with Pennsylvania to be held in Philadelphia on November 11.

Many Women Will Ride at Horse Show

The National Horse Show, which opens in New York on November 16, will be of particular interest this year to horse owners and breeders on account of the variety and quality of the entries. In the riding and driving classes many women and young society girls have entries, and the fair sex will be well represented also in the saddle.

Among the equestriennes will be Mrs. Meiklejohn, Miss Ruth Dreyer, Miss H. D. Atterbury, Mrs. Cabot Ward, Miss Dorothy Welch, Miss Claire A. Knapp and Miss Edith Logan.

BASEBALL STARS AT ECHO CLUB DANCE

Baseball stars of a number of major and minor league teams will gather at Interscholastic hall, Roxbury, for a reunion and dance tonight under the auspices of the Echo Sporting Club of Roxbury, which includes in its membership most all of the noted athletes in the district. Jim Madden of Montreal, Bill Cooney of Haverhill, Leo Callahan of Brooklyn, Frank Sullivan of St. John, and D. Bervan of Dubuque. There I League and a number of other semi-professionals.

Georgetown Loses Capt. John Hegarty

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—In the midst of what promised to be the most successful season in Georgetown's football history, the university eleven has lost its captain, John E. Hegarty of Boston.

In the North Carolina game Hegarty was forced to leave the field on account of injuries, but it was not until after a conference of surgeons at the university hospital that it was announced that the injury to Hegarty's ankle and hip was of such a nature that he cannot again play football.

Football Results

At New York.

The Fordham University football eleven won from Stevens in a hard game yesterday by the score of 13 to 12. Stevens outweighed its opponents, but what the latter lacked in weight it more than made up for in speed.

At Lynn.

The fast Abington High School team added another victory to its list when it bumbled Lynn Classical in decisive fashion yesterday. The final score of the game was 21 to 0 in favor of the Abington schoolboys.

At Brockton.

The Lawrence Academy football team met its first defeat of the season at the hands of Brockton High yesterday. The Brockton boys romped home, winners by the score of 20 to 2.

At Concord.

The Concord High school team continued its winning streak yesterday by defeating the Norwood High School eleven by the score of 35 to 12. The Concord players put up a slashing game.

GALLANT MEETS FRYER AT WESTFIELD CLUB

WESTFIELD, Nov. 6.—The next meeting of the Whip City Athletic Club will be held Monday, November 18, and a fine card has been arranged, in the main bout Johnny Gallant, formerly of Chelsea, but now of Huntington, will face Jimmy Fryer of Philadelphia.

Williams Hopes For Victory in Contest With Wesleyan Team

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 6.—The big home game of the Williams football schedule will be played Saturday, when the Purple will meet Wesleyan on Weston field. It is one of the two remaining games of the schedule, the last being with Amherst a week later, and it will be one of the hardest, since Wesleyan has shown strength all the season.

It will be made an event of considerable importance at the Berkshire college, many of the alumni planning to witness the game and the students planning to entertain a large number of guests for the game and the presentation of the play of Cap and Bells Saturday night in Grace Hall.

Williams has the week to polish up for the match and it will be a busy one for the team and for the coach.

The team showed good aggression in the Cornell game, winning out in the second half when the score was against it, and with another week it will go into the match with Wesleyan the strongest of the season.

BIG ENTRY LIST.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6.—Eight hundred bowlers have filed their entries for the Middle West bowling tournament, which will be held on the Grand alleys here, November 27 to December 9. The prize money will amount to $7,500.

Mike Murphy To Take Long Rest

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Mike Murphy, the University of Pennsylvania trainer, who has been in poor health for long time, has temporarily given up his work at the university and left for State College, Penn., in the hope of recovering some of his failing strength. He will go into the camp of the State College football team, where, it is believed, the high altitude will benefit him.

PITTSFIELD AFTER FOOTBALL ATTRACTION

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 6.—The Pittsfield Board of Trade is planning a football day for Pittsfield on the 23d. If plans are successful, Colgate and Vermont will meet on the Common on that date. It is planned to make the day a big one in Berkshire County. The game should provide a great deal of interest for the county, as Prince Smith and Jerry O'Brien, both of Pittsfield, are on the Vermont eleven.

$12,500 PAID FOR COLT.

LEXINGTON, Nov. 6.—Aidale, 2:15¼, world's champion trotting yearling, was sold by his breeder and owner, J. L. Parkinton, proprietor of the Allendale Farm, near this city, to J. Howard Ford, owner of Stony Ford Farm, for the record-breaking price of $12,500.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S DAILY DOUBLE

Married Life the Third Year

NO. 89—HELEN AND WARREN GO MOTORING WITH MR. REED AND ARE ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING

By MABEL HERBERT URNER.

"HOLD up there, George," ordered Warren. "Let's ask this man."

The driver slowed down the car and Warren called out:

"How do we get to the River road?"

"Third turn to the left and the first to the right. That'll bring you out to the main road."

"They ought to have more signs on these roads," complained Mr. Reed.

"It's no blame dark, you couldn't see them," growled Warren.

"Do I turn here, sir?" asked George a few moments later.

"Of course that's the road," insisted Warren. "This is the third turn to the left."

The chauffeur turned, but as they drove on, even in the darkness they could see the road was but little travelled.

"I think we're wrong," persisted Mr. Reed. "Don't believe this is the road."

"We can't be wrong," Warren asserted positively.

"But dear, this is awfully rough," ventured Helen as they jolted over one stone after another. "Let's ask the next person we meet."

But they met no one to ask. Now and then a light glimmered through the trees from some distant farm house, but there were no houses along the road itself. They finally came to another crossroad.

"Here you are," announced Warren. "He said first turn to the right."

"But this isn't the main road," protested Mr. Reed. "I think you're wrong—we ought to go back."

Finding Out

But Warren stubbornly contended that this was right. Helen peered anxiously ahead. She knew it was late. It had been almost ten when they left the road house where they had dined. Oh, why had Warren insisted that they try a different road coming back? Mr. Reed had not wanted to come this way, and now already they had been wandering around for over an hour, trying to find the road.

"What's that ahead of us, George?" demanded Mr. Reed, as they finally caught sight of a faint, jogging light.

"I can't tell yet, sir."

But as they drew nearer they saw it was two men with a lantern.

"Does this lead to the River road?" called Mr. Reed.

"The River road? Why, you ain't going the right way for that. This leads to the old Meadow road."

Mr. Reed muttered something under his breath, and Warren asked sharply:

"But we can get to Boston this way, can't we?"

"No, sir; you're going straight away from Boston."

Helen felt her cheeks grow hot. So Warren had been wrong. They had come all this distance out of the way because he had been too obstinate to admit he was mistaken. Now, as they turned back, he was sullenly silent.

"Go back slowly along here, George," warned Mr. Reed, as the machine bumped heavily along the uneven road. "Pretty hard road on the car."

This added to Helen's discomfort. She shrank from the thought that they had been the cause of needless wear and tear on Mr. Reed's car. She was always sensitive about the use of other people's property. The whole situation was becoming to her keenly humiliating.

At last they came out on the right road, but by this time it was after midnight and they were still a long way from home.

"Your lights are out again, George," warned Mr. Reed, and for the third time the chauffeur got out to relight the lamps. The night air had grown damp and chilly. Helen drew the lap robe closer about her.

"I'm afraid you're cold, Mrs. Curtis," said Mr. Reed, solicitously. "George, see if there isn't another coat under the seat."

Mr. Reed wrapped Helen in the coat. It was always some one else who never Warren, she thought bitterly, who was solicitous about her comfort.

They crossed a bridge now and were in the outskirts of the city. Twenty minutes after one was the time by an illuminated tower clock.

Suddenly a snorting motor cycle dashed up from behind, turned and darted almost in front of their car.

"Stop your car," ordered the man.

Without even glancing toward them he jumped off his cycle, drew out a note book and began questioning the driver.

Helen could not hear what he said, but she was taking the chauffeur's name and license number. So they were being arrested for speeding!

Rapidly filling out a blank he handed it to George with a gruff:

"You're to appear in court tomorrow at ten o'clock."

Still without deigning a word or a glance toward Mr. Reed or Warren, he jumped on his motor cycle and was gone.

"But we weren't going very fast," ventured Helen timidly, wondering why they had not made the slightest protest.

"No use arguing with those fellows," said Mr. Reed. "Best way is to go to court and take your medicine."

"And will they fine you much?" she asked anxiously.

Mr. Reed shrugged his shoulders. "Ten or twenty dollars." And this extra expense, too, had been their fault. If they had not lost so much time going out of the way they would not have been running so fast. For a moment she wished Warren would offer to pay the fine. It would lessen her sense of obligation. But then she realized how strange that would look. They were Mr. Reed's guests, and he must bear whatever expense the trip incurred.

"What's the matter?" asked Mr. Reed. "Lights out again?"

"No, sir," examining the gasoline tank. "There's no gasoline."

"No gasoline! Great heavens, have we driven that much?" Mr. Reed was out and peering into the tank. "By Jove, we're in a fix."

Just then a policeman came up, swinging his club.

"Where's the nearest place to get gasoline?" demanded Mr. Reed.

"Sullivan's—six blocks up. That's about the only place open now."

There was nothing to do but for the chauffeur to go after it, and in gloomy silence they settled back to wait.

"They would have had plenty of gasoline, thought Helen wretchedly, if only they had not gone out of the way. And yet Warren did not seem to realize that it was all his fault. Would they ever get home? She was so tired and sleepy she could have cried.

"Time for him to be getting back," said Warren finally, lighting another cigar. "Shouldn't take him more than twenty minutes."

Mr. Reed glanced at his watch, but made no comment. Helen felt that he was silent only because he was thoroughly angry and out of patience. They waited another twenty minutes. Mr. Reed had gotten out of the car and was walking up and down.

"That place was shut up. Had to go over to the avenue," he announced sullenly, as he poured the gasoline into the tank.

Mr. Reed stood by watching him, but made no comment. The trip had worn out and irritated them all, and he had taken refuge in a guarded silence.

Once more the chauffeur cranked up the machine, and once more they started off. But to Helen's horror the car soon stopped again.

"What is the matter now" asked Mr. Reed, and Helen could feel the controlled wrath in his voice.

The End of It

Then both Warren and Mr. Reed got out and began looking the machine over. Helen was huddled up in the wide back seat alone, almost too wretched to care what happened now.

"See here, Curtis," said Mr. Reed suddenly, "You'd better take Mrs. Curtis and go home. I think there's something wrong with that gasoline. Don't know when we'll get off. You can get a car about five blocks above here."

"But I don't like to leave you this way, old man," objected Warren.

"That's all right. There's no use keeping Mrs. Curtis up any longer. Afraid its been a pretty hard trip on her. Sorry we had such a night of it and that I can't get you home."

After a few more protests, Warren helped Helen out of the machine and they started off. And Helen felt that Mr. Reed was glad to have them go.

They kept looking back, hoping the machine might start. But so long as they could see it was still standing by the roadside.

"Well, if I had a car I'd see that I had enough gasoline before I started out," growled Warren. "I'll not want to take another trip with Reed soon. If he's that careless he might get us stranded any where."

Helen looked up in amazement. She was used to Warren's never admitting that he was at fault. But that he should blame Mr. Reed for this! Tired and wretched as she was, she had an hysteric cat desire to laugh.

"Dress Simply If You Want to Look Young," Says Pretty Juliette Day

MISS JULIETTE DAY, LEADING WOMAN WITH THE "YELLOW JACKET" COMPANY.

By Margaret Hubbard Ayer.

MISS JULIETTE DAY is a tiny little person, with very large ambitions. Now she is rehearsing day and night, but she manages to look well and very happy despite her strenuous work.

She is the sort of a little girl that is bound to be called cunning, or worse still, cute. I know she abominates both adjectives and is quite English in her denunciation of them. Still, she is little, so I must her to give a word of advice to other girls who never can grow up, because for feet eight inches or five feet at most.

Miss Day has a cunning little face; dear me, how that wretched adjective again intrudes! Big blue eyes. And this is what she thinks about other little women.

"The little woman has one advantage over the big one," said Miss Day, and as she sat in a big chair, her feet barely touched the ground. "Little women stay younger longer than big women do. If a little woman is clever, she never need look old at all, providing she takes care of herself and of course there isn't so much to take care of as there is of the six-footer.

"I don't believe I shall ever grow tall enough they say you do go on growing till you are twenty-one. Still I rather think I shall be a "shorty" all my life as I've had to study the question seriously.

Will Hide Her Light.

"Here are some of the things I have decided on:

"A little woman must never wear frocks that are overtrimmed. She cannot afford to look like a fashionable lampshade, because if she does she will hide her light beneath it and be eclipsed.

"She must never wear large patterns and wide stripes.

"She must never wear too many colors, for if she is pretty the jumble of colors detracts from her looks, and her face is too small to stand the rivalry of loud colors.

"She must never wear big hats. A little face under a very big hat can't be seen, in the first place, and the back view is apt to look ridiculous. It looks as if the big hat were running off with the girl.

"She must never carry very large handbags or reticules, and all her small accessories must be in proportion to her size.

"If she wants to look young she must dress simply, no matter what age she is. The little woman can afford to dress girlishly when she is past middle age, but when she is young she must not imitate the foolish customs or fashions of the older women.

"I see a great many girls who think because they are very little that they can use make-up on the street without its being detected. Even powder makes the face look older, and nothing is so foolish as for a girl to think that a complexion is important to her but you always need a footstool." Here she swung her feet to show that she could not reach the floor.

"You don't know how uncomfortable this position is, and we small women often suffer agony because we can't touch our feet to the ground, and chairs are so high.

"Then there's another thing. No matter how pretty a little woman is, she is really lost in the crowd, and is less noticed than the tall girls of five feet six and up.

"If you are short, the best thing to do is to realize it and suit yourself and your ways and clothes to your height.

"Don't swagger around and make long steps and swing your arms, or try to be mannish; it's perfectly ridiculous, and everybody is bound to think so, though they may call it 'smart' for a while.

"The little woman can 'lounge,' but she cannot 'sprawl,' and she has to make up her mind that heroic gestures and big motions of her body are not for her.

"She cannot whirl her arms about, and even when she is 'suffragetting' from the tail of a car, or upon a soap box, she gets more attention—results—if she remains perfectly quiet, using no gestures at all."

Household Hints

After filling a rubber water bottle with hot water press the side before you screw the cap in so doing all the steam passes out and there will be no danger of the bottle ripping, no matter how hot the water.

Dresses should be folded right side out and covered with paper or an old sheet. Keep all drawers, chests and wardrobes neat and clean and all articles sorted, not all mixed up in a state of confusion. Be neat and you will be amply repaid for the little trouble it causes you.

A bottle of linseed oil should be kept in a convenient place in every house and should be applied to scalds or burns at once to relieve the pain. If a little lime water is added to the linseed oil it will be more efficacious.

If you have any palms, remember that the leaves ought to be sponged once a week with lukewarm water, to which is added a little milk. After this bet the palm stand in slightly warm water for two hours.

A veil rolled each time it is taken off will keep much longer than when folded; gloves pulled out and smoothed will wear twice as long as if they were crushed and tossed into a drawer.

If a spoonful of borax is put into the last water in which white clothes are rinsed, it will whiten them very much. The borax should be dissolved in a little hot water before it is added to the rinsing water.

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"I WAS reading a funny thing the other day about Mister Sir Walter Scott," said the Manicure Lady.

"It told how he met Mister Byron, and when Byron called him Mister Scott he said, 'Call me, Walt, kid; call me Walt.'

"I ain't interested much in them poets,' said the Head Barber, "because I hear so much about the stuff that your brother is all the time writing. I am so used to listening to poetry that I am beginning to dodge any sentence that begins with a capital letter and ends with a rhyme."

"The only reason I mentioned it, kiddo," said the Manicure Lady, "was to show that even the poets know how to be as democratic as Mister Wilson. You know a lot of people think that because a man can make up verses he is going around all the time with his head up in the air, making a noise like an earthquake. Nothing could be no farther from the truth than that, George. Wilfred is one of the most democratic fellows that you ever seen. Of course I don't mean to say that he is as great a poet as a man like Mister Sir Walter Scott, but I will say that the poor kid had some ideas of making up rhymes, like "I was strolling in the park and it almost broke my heart when from her I had to go, for it left her all alone.' That's the kind of a poet that Wilfred is, George, but just the same he's my brother, and if anybody around here is going to knock his poetry I guess it will have to be me.

"I don't care one way or the other," said the Head Barber wearily. "I had an uncle once out in Arizona that used to write some verses. Him and his brother had a ranch together. He did the verses writing for the firm and his brother did the work. It worked all right for a little while, because the one that wrote the verses kept bulling the other brother that some fine day one of the magazines would buy enough of his verses to help him buy another ranch. The poems kept coming back like one of them there boomerangs, and at last the brother who was doing all the work took a good, healthy kick at the brother that was writing all the poetry, and the partnership dissolved.

"Well, you have talked quite a while," said the Manicure Lady. "Now let me say a few words. I think poets is kind of useful sometimes. The old geat has went into the canned goods business, and Wilfred has wrote him eight poems about the special brands of canned stuff that father is going to sell. One of the verses goes:

"' All of Johnson's goods are canned
And their flavor is simply grand. "

Shrimp's Election Will Be a Week Late

The Blindness of Youth

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A YOUNG man, one who is unmarrie, picks up a newspaper.

He turns first to the sports. Perhaps he reads the telegraphic news; he undoubtedly does if something sensational has occurred.

If he is a thinker he reads the editorials. He looks at the comic pictures and then throws the paper away.

A young woman, one who is not married, picks up a paper. Perhaps she reads the sporting news; she usually reads the telegraphic news; she always looks over the society page, and sometimes glances up and down the obituary column. Occasionally, she reads the editorials.

But, young man and young woman alike, there is one part of the paper that is always overlooked. It is the part that refers to the onward jump of high prices!

If potatoes have gone up; if butter has advanced; if flour has made another stride; if it costs more to live today than it cost yesterday, and there are threats that it will cost more tomorrow; the young man and young woman, if Unmarried, think that is a matter for mother and father to worry over.

They are sorry, of course. Or, rather, they would be sorry if they read such dire reports. But they don't read them.

A young man signing himself John writes:

"I am twenty-two years of age and I am keeping company with a young lady two years my junior. Now, we would like very much to get married. I am earning $10 a week and I would like to get your opinion as to whether or not we could get along happily together on said sum."

"When Poverty abideth in the house," runs a new maxim, "Love's Young Dream becomes Love's Old Nightmare."

This Is the Question?

John, no doubt, knows the season's baseball score. Does he know the score butter and eggs have made?

He knows who are winners of the prize fights. I contend he doesn't know that flour and meats and potatoes have Romance down, and that it will not rise to the count.

A man and wife can live on $10 a week and be happy, but not in a large city. If they live in a little country town where there is room for a vegetable garden, and carfare doesn't enter into the account, and the wife is an economical housewife, $10 a week leaves a margin for a rainy day.

But does John smoke? Is his wife a soda and ice cream victim? Are they addicted to the moving picture habit? Do they crave all the little luxuries and amusements of the day, inexpensive, perhaps, taken singly, but amounting to the price of a good steak in the course of a week?

Will she do the family laundry? Will she make her own clothes? Will his love survive the sacrifice of good dressing?

John knows the quality of his love. The girl knows the quality of hers. I fear they don't know the cost of living. A love must be strong, unselfish, enduring, and ideal to live, day after day, under assaults made upon it by the grocer and the butcher and the landlord.

A Good Test

Why not make this a test. Let John and the girl he loves take that $10 every week and open an account with an imaginary landlord, butcher, baker, grocer and dry goods merchant. If there is anything left at the end of the week, they can not be exultant, for there is a bill of sundries to be met that sometimes amounts to half they have taken into account.

Gas and coal and shoes and ice and the doctor, who may come rarely, but makes his visits count; a hundred and one items, all merciless, all stubborn, and on the other side of the ledger the one word, "Love."

Would it survive? Ask those who have tried it. They know.

Take a course in the School of Experience, and be grateful that it is the experience of the man you ask, and not your own.

Up-to-the-Minute Jokes

A prisoner on his trial, in answer to the charge, pleaded "Not guilty." The jury found the charge proved, and in passing sentence the judge said, "Ye're not only guilty, but ye come here and tell lies, saying ye're not."

The prisoner who followed next for trial was doubtless influenced by this, and supposed it would be well for him to take another course, so he pleaded "Guilty," in an almost self-satisfied voice.

"Oh, ye're guilty, are ye," said the judge, "and come here to brag about it, do ye?"

An Irishman was going along the road, when an angry bull rushed at him and tossed him over a fence.

The Irishman, recovering from his fall, upon looking up saw the bull pawing and tearing up the ground, as is the custom of the animal when irritated, whereupon he smiled at the animal and said:

"If it was not for your bowing and scraping and your humble apologies, you brute, faix, I should think that you'd thrown me over this fence on purpose."

Wilson (who has met his friend whom he hasn't seen for some time)—Let me see; you knew poor old Jackson, didn't you?

Johnson—Yes; I knew him well.

Wilson—Then you will be pleased to hear he is out of his misery at last.

Johnson—You don't say so. Poor old fellow. But I always thought he would pop off suddenly. When did he die?

Wilson—Oh, he's not dead; it's his wife.

NO MORE CONSTIPATION

It's Me for Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

BROADWAY JONES

A Thrilling Story of "The Great White Way"

Based on George M. Cohan's great play now running in New York

BROADWAY GETS SOME DETAILS.

"Your uncle was a game one, young man," said the country lawyer.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

Copyright, 1912, by George M. Cohan.

PART II. (Continued.)

By BERTRAND BABCOCK.

"I KNOW," broke in Broadway in a tone that was almost impertinent. "but Mr. Wallace means aside from the gum business."

"Well, you see those trust fellows have been so anxious to get the Jones gum that they've been making it pretty warm lately. They knew we had a big fund for advertising purposes, but they killed that for us two years ago with one of their business tricks."

A Scurvy Trick

"What do you mean?" he said tensely.

"Well they sent in such a demand on us," answered the country lawyer, "that we added to the size of the plant and spent the money for machinery. We never realized that it was anything but a legitimate increase until the sudden smash came. Then we went back to the normal demand and laid off our extra force and found ourselves with superfluous machinery and five useless packing sheds on our hands—and no advertising done all that year."

A business which had been run for a whole year without advertising aroused the professional pride of Wallace, and his interest as well.

"Can you beat that?" he exclaimed. "Just shows how much chance the little advertiser has got."

"Your uncle put up a good fight," continued the Judge to Jackson. "He turned down every offer they made. Of course he'd contracted so many and such heavy debts during the time of the fake demand that he had to get a lot of quick money in order to do business and continue. The banks didn't treat him just right. They wouldn't help him."

"That was the trust again—the big advertiser," exclaimed Wallace.

"Your uncle was a game one, young man. He disposed of a lot of stocks and bonds and turned all his Hartford and Meriden holdings into money and put it right back in the business," the Judge explained slowly to Jackson.

In utter silence the youth who had paid his little fortune for a Broadway reputation sat for a moment, comforting himself with the reflection that the gum trust was still in existence and wanted his plant.

Only the Plans

"Then aside from the chewing gum business itself he left very little," was the audible conclusion of Broadway.

The Judge's answer was decisive.

"Nothing at all. I believe the plant showed a profit last year. I expect Miss Richards here shortly. She can tell you exactly what it was. She's got it at her finger tips."

"Miss Richards? Who's she?" asked Broadway in surprise at the mention of a woman's name in connection with the Jonesville business.

The Judge considered a moment.

"Oh, you couldn't have known her," he said. "She came since you left. She came first as an assistant bookkeeper about two years ago. She worked her way up in no time and now she's chief accountant, and she's been a sort of private secretary for your uncle, too. Everybody likes her, even Higgins, the foreman, and he can't get along with any one. I sent Clara over for her—she'll tell you all about it. The men in the plant swear by her. When times were very good she got your uncle to put in a sort of profit-sharing arrangement with the men on business above certain figures. And when times got bad she got them to hold a meeting and give it up to help. There wouldn't have been anything for them, anyway, as the business didn't come up to the figures."

Before Jackson could express himself on the feature of industrial life in Jonesville the Judge's man, Dave, entered and handed to the Judge five cigars. The latter looked at them.

"See here, Dave," he observed, "there are only five cigars here."

Jackson had lighted one of the cigars, while Wallace put a cigarette into his mouth. Dave answered Spotswood:

"They won't give six at the cigar store," he said. "He says they're five cents straight even if you buy a hundred."

The Judge and the two young men laughed as the Judge said contritely:

"I thought maybe you'd think that they were tenners."

"I knew mine was a barytone the moment I lit it," said Jackson.

The Will

As the hired man left, Sam, the Judge's fat son, came in, and with his hat on his head put some papers on the table before his father.

To Be Continued Tomorrow

After Many Years

SOLEMN and staid, Mr. Snipes was a little old man who lived in the suburbs, and the pride of his life was a wonderful chiming clock that occupied the post of honor on the mantelpiece of the sitting room.

For over thirty-five years Mr. Snipes had wound that clock precisely at half-past ten each evening.

"I couldn't sleep without doing it," he once remarked. "I'd as soon miss my supper as miss my clock."

One evening a new acquaintance dropped in to spend a few hours with Snipes and family, and the gentleman happened to be a maker of watches and clocks.

Punctually at half-past ten the aged suburbanite rose and proceeded faithfully to wind his pet timepiece.

"That's rather a nice clock," remarked the watchmaker, examining it intently.

"Yes," replied Snipes; "and, man and boy, for thirty-five years have I wound up that clock at half-past ten each evening. It's got to be my mania."

"Well," replied the jeweler, "all I can say is you've wasted a jolly lot of time. That's an eight-day clock."

How to Make Better Cough Syrup Than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equalled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

THE years, which have a fattening and growing effect on woman, seem to shrink a man. At fifty she looks like a toy balloon, and he looks like a flannel shirt that has been in the wash all Winter.

The years also have a widely different effect on the disposition. She grows garrulous with age, and he grows less and less communicative.

The changes time has wrought are most noticeable when Lysander John and his wife are seated at breakfast; it is their one meal alone, as both the children are still turning over.

Mrs. Lysander John looms up before the coffee cups like a Mauretania surrounded by little sailboats. He, sinking down in his chair, is hidden behind his newspaper like a violet hidden beneath a hedge, a comparison too poetical for a married man.

She booms into conversation at regular intervals; he reads and turns the pages and says nothing.

Her Ruling Habit

This morning, in turning a page, his attention was caught by his wife's laugh. A wife rarely laughs at breakfast; a husband never.

His curiosity was aroused and, peeping cautiously behind a corner of his paper, he saw his wife's face lighted up with smiles and animation, as if she were carrying on a conversation with some one most interesting.

She was looking at her coffee cup. "I didn't believe it when I first heard it," she said; "but then, as you know, I soon had proof." (A pause.) "Yes, I know it is wrong to gossip, but if there had never been any gossip there would be no history."

She turned her face inquiringly toward the cream pitcher, and then laughed.

"What an idea! The cream pitcher"—turning back to her coffee cup—"says they gossip in heaven; that the women there gossip by expressing sympathy for the women who became their husbands' second wives!"

She Needed an Audience

She laughed uproariously. Then she began an argument on Women's Rights with the syrup jug, and, though Lysander John dropped his paper and stared at her in fear, she heeded him not.

He called her name in alarm. "Are you mad?" he said, and she took no notice of him, agreeing with her fork that since the women had the children the men ought to be compelled to take care of them after they came.

Lysander John felt his temperature going down and his hair growing up. He called again in such tones of horror that at last her attention was attracted.

"Are you crazy?" he said, "talking to the dishes like that?"

"I had to talk to something," she said, giving a wink at the cream pitcher, "and you wouldn't listen."

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

Stock Markets Have Sharp Rally; Heavy Buying of Railroads; Coppers Higher.

STATE STREET, Nov. 6.—Closing—Reflecting the strength in the New York list the local market opened active and with a firm tone. Granby was the strongest feature at the opening. American Woolen declined one point to 86 because of the prospect of lower tariff. After a slight recession in the early forenoon the market grew active and stronger in sympathy with the sharp advance in the New York market, and coppers showed a gain of from one to 15 points at the close.

Among the closing prices were: Calumet-Arizona, 78½, up 1¾; Granby, 69, up 4; Old Dominion, 61, up 1½; Utah Consolidated, 12½, up 1¼; Butte-Superior, 48, up 2½; East Butte, 15½, up ⅝; Lake, 30, up 2¼; Pond Creek, 27, up 2; Wolverine, 80, up 3½.

New York Market.

The opening of the New York market this morning was active and strong, but not up to the London level. Traders were distrustful of the advance abroad, believing that it had been made from New York for the purpose of helping distribution of stock. By the end of the first half-hour the market had turned weak with heavy selling all through the list.

Abject weakness was shown in American Beet Sugar, which after opening at 63 dropped to 56, but later in the day recovered to above 61. Disappointment in regard to the dividend declaration of the Standard Oil Company of Kansas, which declared a regular dividend of $3 per share and an extra dividend of $2 per share, caused that issue to slump on the New York Curb from its opening price of 370 to 275, a decline of 95 points, but it afterward rallied to 292.

The market stiffened around noontime, and in the final hour there was vigorous purchasing of railroad and industrial stocks which sent prices 2 to 3 points above Monday's final prices. The market closed very active and near the high point of the day.

Tennessee Copper.

Operations at the Tennessee Copper Company property continue at a record-breaking pace and the indications point to October results being equally as good as September, which month was the best in the history of the company. The custom feature of Tennessee Smelting operations is working out very well indeed and a considerable increase in production has been made. Not only is the production greater, but on certain of these ores there is the quotation profit which the Tennessee Company realizes, owing to the higher metal prices. This is also making for greater earnings. The Tennessee Company is now turning out approximately 500 to 550 tons of sulphuric acid a day and this amount will gradually increase as colder weather comes on until it is brought up to 600 to 650 tons a day. It is estimated that for the year the production of acid will amount to slightly over 200,000 tons.

As the year of 1912 draws to a close the indications are that the total gross earnings will amount to between $1,250,000 and $1,300,000—or after allowing for depreciation charge, a figure close to $1,200,000 or $1,250,000.

Tennessee has 200,000 shares which, should indicate earnings around $6 per share. At the present time, however, under the higher price for copper metal, which was not fully felt until Summer, the earnings are running considerably in excess of this amount.

American Beet Sugar.

The persistent selling of American Beet Sugar common shares, which has caused a loss of ten points in the stock during the past few weeks, is prompted by knowledge of changed trade conditions. Estimates of earnings of the American Beet Sugar Company have been that the balance available for dividends in the fiscal year to end March 31 next would approximate $13.50 per share of stock outstanding. It now appears likely, however, that earnings for the common will not approach that amount.

Business of American Beet Sugar has been of good volume, it is said, although not quite up to last year, but the Beet Sugar Company now has to meet with very severe competition and the margin of profit on sales has been materially reduced. One authority states that the profit of the Beet Sugar Company has been reduced 1¾ cents per pound.

Foreign Financial News.

London copper warrants were firm at the opening and 2s. 6d. lower at £75⅛ for spot and £76½ for futures.

London copper warrants were dull and 2s. 6d higher at the closing at £76 for spot and £76⅝ for futures. Sales were 500 tons spot and 1400 tons futures.

London closing prices showed irregularity. Consols were steady but home rails were mixed. American Railway shares rallied on the Curb. The latest aspects of the Balkan situation and the conclusion of the Paris settlement were reflected in the strength in the foreign section. Profit taking was apparent in the mining group. Rio Tintos closed ⅛ higher at 73¼.

Continental Bourses closed firm.

ZELIG'S SLAYER IS GIVEN 30 YEARS

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—"Red Phil" Davidson, confessed murderer of the gang leader, "Big Jack" Zelig, was sentenced today to imprisonment in Sing Sing for not less than thirty years, nor more than life. Davidson, who pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree last week, was calm today. He shot Zelig on a street car on October 5, asserting that the gangster had robbed him of $500, though the District Attorney believed that Zelig had been killed so that he could not testify against Lieutenant Becker.

HEARST CABLES CONGRATULATIONS

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—The following cablegram was received today from William R. Hearst, who is in Madrid, Spain:

Congratulations upon your personal victory and the fact that you will have a Democratic House and Senate to support you.

Mr. Hearst's papers supported Governor Wilson's candidacy.

TESTIFY ETTOR ADVISED PEACE

SALEM COURTHOUSE, Nov. 6.—Many nationalities testified today at the trial of Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso, charged with complicity in the murder of Mrs. Annie Lo Pezzi.

Most of the stories were repetitions of what have gone before, maintaining that Ettor and Giovannitti at no time urged violence.

Frank M. Zottoli, Boston attorney and bail commissioner, testified that after a conference with Dudley Holman, the Governor's secretary, he attended a meeting in Lawrence, where he heard Ettor and Giovannitti counsel peaceful measures.

Fred Pepper, tobacconist and Socialist of Lawrence, quoted from one of Ettor's speeches. He testified:

"Ettor said: 'Be peaceful. Keep hands in pockets. If Mr. William Wood wants people at his looms let him send his own daughters to work.'" John Bienkowski, a Polish member of the strike committee, told of the disturbance at Union and Essex streets January 12.

Louis Boches, a Jewish operative of the Arlington Mills, asked why he went on strike, answered:

"Because my pay was reduced twenty-five cents."

John Graham Brooks of Cambridge and Miss Helena Dudley, former head worker of the Dennison House, Boston, were among the visitors in the courtroom.

Caruso, Loaded With Medals, Comes Back for Opera Season

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Wearing medals and honors suffice for a half-dozen Grand Army men, the gifts of crowned heads of almost every European country, Enrico Caruso, the tenor, led a galaxy of songsters who returned today on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, for the Winter opening of the Metropolitan opera season.

So numerous were the medals and orders that the tenor dug into almost every pocket to produce them for the newspaper men.

"If I should show them all," said the tenor, "I would keep you here an hour. There are so many. But I do not like to show them to everybody. I am not so proud. Perhaps I will wear one or two, or maybe three or four, but only sometimes."

No $1,500 for Newton Health Official. He Won't Take a Cent

Francis G. Curtis, head of the Newton Board of Health, wants $1,500 for his services. He has been offered $1,000, but refuses it. Every year he has been offered the $1,000, but declines thus:

"I'll get $1,500 for my services as head of the Board of Health in this city or I'll take nothing."

Mayor Hatfield has suggested in his budget that Curtis receive $1,500. For twenty years Curtis has been refusing $1,000 and doing the work of the board for nothing, because his price is $1,500.

Canon Henson of Westminster Abbey Talks at Cathedral

Canon H. H. Henson of Westminster Abbey at the noon service in St. Paul's Cathedral asked his listeners to be more neighborly and to have pity upon the downtrodden, needy and the discouraged.

"Who is your neighbor in Boston?" asked the canon. "It is the one who may live next to you or who may have moved into the next block. Your neighbor is the person who needs your help and whom you can help. Nothing must come between you and this help. It does not make any difference what his church may be, or his creed, whether he is orthodox or otherwise, you must go to him and help him.

"Persons who are not actively engaged in earning their own living have a special opportunity to render their neighborliness.

"Think of the young girl who may come into your home and who may be all alone, and think, too, of what need she has of your advice and help in many ways to enable her to be happy.

"Perhaps the way that she needs to feel that you are her neighbor is in enlarging her own opportunity to get along."

LODGE OFFICIAL KILLS HIMSELF

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., Nov. 6.—Fred E. Phillips, former postmaster and city clerk of this city, committed suicide at 10 a. m. today by shooting. He ended his life within an hour of the time he was to have met examiners who were to inspect his books as general secretary of the order known as the New England Workmen in Rhode Island. He organized the order.

The officials in the order fear a shortage. They attribute Phillips' suicide to financial complications. The books are being examined.

He tried to end his life a month ago. He was found overcome by gas in his cellar, but his wife discovered him.

Phillips was known to have made an appointment today to meet experts who were to examine his accounts. Shortly before the hour set he went to a shed in the rear of his home and sent a 38-calibre bullet through his brain.

He was fifty years old. He was supreme representative of the Knights of Pythias.

Our Ticket Has Won in State and Nation

Now Let Us See to It That We Reap All the Fruits That Belong to the Victory

The readers of the Boston AMERICAN will rejoice today as they read the news. They will not say that they are right because they have won. They will say they have won because they were right. They will say that the people of the United States and the people of the State of Massachusetts have once more, as many times in the past, proved their good sense.

Wilson and Marshall have been tried and trained in high offices. Both are Governors of great States. They have shown themselves to be true progressives—eager to get forward toward the goal of a greater liberty and prosperity for the people. We expect great things of them and are not likely to be disappointed.

Foss and Walsh also have the confidence of the people.

Foss' devoted and useful service in the State has put him beyond the reach of all detraction. He returns to the governorship full of strength and with a steel-tempered will and keen intelligence bound upon getting solid benefits for the whole people, and upon saving those who are poor or weak or overladen from the grind of the millstones of monopoly and privilege.

In these two men—Foss and Walsh—the State has acquired two towers of strength, standing like the abutments of a bridge across the river of humbug and political larceny.

The Democratic party has swept the State and the country because the people are convinced that, as things now stand, that party is the true progressive party. America is all alive with the progressive spirit from sea to sea. The people are tired of being bullied by bosses, tired of being balked and thwarted by stupid stand-patters, tired of being taxed to the bare back and the bare cupboard by special interests.

Yesterday we passed the climax of a great revolt of the plain people against privilege. Roosevelt might have led this revolt if he had really represented the progressive spirit that crosses all party lines. But Roosevelt was more fit in character and temperament to beat down what is bad than to build up what is good. He has destroyed the party of Taft and Aldrich. He has not been able to create the new party of the people's hope.

The battle is over. We must now look forward, not backward.

It is related that after the crushing defeat of the French by the Prussians in the war of 1871, the great German field marshal, Von Moltke, addressed his soldiers at a military review, saying: "My children, we have finished the pastime of war. It behooves us now to address ourselves to the sterner and more arduous duties of the camp."

Von Moltke meant what Napoleon meant when he accosted some people who were praising the victor in a great battle, and stopped them with the challenging question: "Yes, but what did he do the day after?"

Thus the work of yesterday will not be crowned and completed until the Democratic party, now returned to great power, shall have lifted the burden of unjust laws from the backs of the people, and shall have flung wide open the gates of opportunity that have long been bolted and barred.

When all the returns are footed up it may be that the Democratic party will be shown—in spite of its great success—a minority party in the nation at large. However that may be, it is certain that the Democratic party is on trial.

It has no sure tenure of office. It must "make good."

The people of the country have for the moment entrusted their fortunes to the Democratic party because they believe that under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson that party has escaped from the rule of the fanatics on the one hand and of reactionaries on the other.

Wilson has won the hearts and hopes of the people with his promise of a new day of economic freedom and a new chance in life for the average man. The people have responded to his manifesto of release and liberty.

There are signs and auguries in the air today that should quicken the pulse and deepen the breath of all who would help in the building of a Greater America. There are good reasons to believe that we stand on the threshold of a new era whose happiness and prosperity shall surpass all precedent.

America Should Back Up Christian States Triumphant Over Cruel Turks

The moment has arrived to deliver Christendom from the outrage of centuries. For five hundred years Christians in Turkey have been subjected to shame, torture and massacre. The climax of this suffering has been reached during the last fortnight.

In their flight before the victorious Bulgarians, Servians, Montenegrins and Greeks the vindictive and desperate Turks have committed unspeakable atrocities upon thousands of Christians. Scores of villages have been wiped out. Women and children and infirm and defenceless old men have been visited with frightful tortures.

Not satisfied with the death of their victims, the Turks have first mutilated them with devilish skill. Women have been treated with every imaginable indignity. Children have been slain by slow and malignant processes before their mothers' eyes. Hands and feet have been lopped off, and eyes gouged out. Men, women and children have been burned alive.

The Sultan stands with his back to the sea. He still holds Constantinople and Salonica. He has sent a cry for help to the great Powers of Europe. He has the monstrous effrontery to hope England and Germany and the other Christian nations will once more help him to refasten his yoke upon those of his Christian subjects whom his own balked and exhausted cruelty has left alive!

A hundred times within the last century and a half the Turks have stilled the cry of the oppressed and stayed the hand of vengeance by promising reforms to alleviate the condition of their Christian subjects. A hundred times these pacts and treaties have been cynically broken.

The Prime Minister of France now comes forward with a proposal that the six great Christian Powers of Europe shall intervene to stop the progress of the Greeks and the Balkan allies and leave the Sultan in undisputed possession of Constantinople.

Surely the public opinion of the world should put a veto upon such a plot. The Turk should not be left with a foothold of any kind in Europe.

Constantinople was once the capital of a Christian empire. It was the chief seat of Christian art and learning. It was the cross-roads of Christian commerce—the most beautiful and splendid city in the world.

Constantinople should be restored to Christendom. The Christian allies, who stand now within sight of Saint Sophia, are strong enough to stretch out their hands and take the city. It is preposterous that any rival Christian Power should prevent their taking it.

Whatever shall be done, the AMERICAN speaks confidently for the public opinion of Christendom in demanding that the brave little Christian States—who have at last, with marvellous valor and immense sacrifice, brought the Turk to his knees—shall not be hindered, by Turkish sympathizers, in their work of retribution and reconstruction.

Three Clever Women Find in Teaching Way to Earn Money at Home

By Mabel Barclay Ury.

EVER since the days of the "Dame Schools" in Colonial times New England women have been teachers in their own homes.

But here are three clever women who thought of some new way to meet an old need. They knew that there were schools for almost everything; they knew that they did not have the special training for teaching the few things that the State does not teach free. But to each of them came a bright idea, and, with real business instinct, each of them acted on it, with what success let them tell you.

There is a thought here for everyone. It is true that there are a few of us who do find it hard to do things well with our hands. But there is hardly any one of us who does not know something, however small a thing, that most people don't know.

Do you understand the mysteries of embroidery? Why not teach it, at so much a lesson? Were you a successful manicure and hairdresser before your marriage, with no time now to practice your trade? Then why not teach it, in your spare hours, to those who wish to take it up professionally? Are you celebrated for your cooking or your baking? Many a girl about to be married would pay you just to sit in your kitchen and watch your methods, if she only knew you would let her.

Really, though, these three ideas are better than any I have mentioned here. Here are the three amateur teachers to speak for themselves:

Social Deportment.

It was imperative for me a short time ago to earn some money at home to pay for a pleasure trip. I at last decided to try to start a class in social deportment.

I began with three friends, but my class soon grew to eleven. They came to my home on Tuesday afternoons for an hour lesson. I taught them how to receive guests, how to pour tea and coffee correctly, in fact, how to entertain smoothly, bringing out their best qualities as hostesses, and thus making their guests feel the power of true hospitality.

Certain days, too, I spoke to them about the economic value of foods, combining the preparation of them in my kitchen by the economical paper bag cookery.

The class was composed wholly of engaged girls and inexperienced young matrons. For the sum of fifty cents a lesson they received the value of my boarding school experience.

Backward Children.

Seeing in the AMERICAN the suggestion of others for earning money at home, I am writing of my small scheme. In the Summer vacation I teach backward children who wish to be promoted in the Fall, or bright children who desire double promotion, and prepare them to pass successfully examinations for these purposes. The principal of the grammar school from which I graduated is very kind and tells such scholars about me, and where I am there is no competition.

RUTH. E. KELLEY,

Reading and Writing.

This is the way a friend of mine used to earn pin money at home spare evenings: Teaching married men and women, and her own husband as well, to read, write, spell, etc. She would translate words to them in their own language, which they thought was much easier than to go to evening school. She would supply everything needed and used to charge them 35 cents a lesson. Some would take two lessons a week. In time she had quite a few pupils.

Paints Menu Covers.

I have found a pleasant way of making "pin money" in providing water color menu covers for banquets and for holiday dinners at the large hotels here. I get from 10 to 25 cents apiece for them, and the orders vary from 50 to 200. They make a beautiful souvenir, yet the work may be done quickly and without interfering with my household work.

MRS. CLARA M. FOGG,
No. 940 Worthington street, Springfield, Mass.

I am surprised that no one has spoken of chicken-raising on a small scale, for it is an easy way to get a few extra dollars. Even if you have only room enough for a dozen or a half-dozen hens there is a good profit. Chickens at the weight of two pounds bring twenty-five cents per pound. Spring hatched pullets bring $1 in the Fall and cockerels about seventy-five cents. The price of eggs of course varies, but always I have a demand for more than I can get.

Even if you do not do this for money, it is nice to know when your eggs were laid and how fresh your chicken meat is. Then the poultry and egg money can go in your pocket.

MRS. E. W. PORTER.
Ward Hill, Mass.

A Christmas Class.

A friend of mine who is an expert with her needle has what she calls a "Christmas and Birthday Class." She saves all the ideas from newspapers and magazines, and in October forms the class, with twenty or more members, who pay her 10 cents a lesson. They make gifts for Christmas. She helps select the materials and shows how to make them.

Special Announcement to Women Who Earn Money at Home

One Dollar will be paid for every letter contributed by Boston AMERICAN readers, and used in the AMERICAN, containing ideas helpful to those WOMEN WHO WISH TO EARN MONEY AT HOME. This department is organized to help women help themselves. It will suggest opportunities for money-making and will help those who wish to develop the ideas they are now using in their homes for increasing their incomes. Won't you please tell us what you are doing and why you are doing it, so that we may be of service to some woman who is struggling in the dark and who needs our help? WOULD VACUUM-CLEAN STREETS.

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I have long sought a solution of the street cleaning problem and I have reached the conclusion that the only adequate one is vacuum cleaning.

Since most large cities have provided an underground railway system, underground sewers and underground pneumatic tubes for transmitting mail matter, why not also an underground cleaning system. Immense quantities of garbage are collected every day and carted away, often to places where it becomes a nuisance to the sight and injurious to health.

Many large concerns have equipped their factories with some blower system for the removal of dirt and for carrying it to the furnaces, where it is utilised as fuel. Now there is no doubt that in the large cities we dwell in an atmosphere of filth. This could all be avoided by vacuum cleaning, which would remove everything instead of sweeping it up into the air. I think it could easily be accomplished with two lines of piping under the streets. One, a large one, could take care of the street sweepings, all the garbage from stores and all light garbage except ashes. The smaller pipe could go to every school building with connections in every room for vacuum cleaners, and it could also be carried to hotels, lodging houses and homes, with a charge sufficient to cover the cost. In this way everything but ashes and tin cans would be transported to the powerhouse, where it could be burned as fuel for power to operate the system.

It seems to me that this plan would do.

Shall the Port of Boston Be a "Free" Port?

Or Shall It Continue to Be Controlled by the Railroads? THIS Is the Big Question Before the Governor's Council Today, and NOT the Wisdom of the Legislature in Creating a Board of Port Directors.

Notwithstanding the gloomy air with which some business men look forward to this afternoon's important meeting of the Executive Council, at the State House, the AMERICAN confidently expects that members of the Council to ratify the contract by which the New Haven Railroad is released from its tenancy of the Commonwealth Pier, at $70,000 a year, and the property TURNED OVER TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE PORT OF BOSTON.

The Council is made up of Lieutenant-Governor Robert Luce and EIGHT Councillors, Messrs. Keith, Cushing, Collins, McGregor, Frothingham, Fletcher, Schuster and Goetting. Mr. Collins of Boston is the ONLY Democrat.

There is, or there ought to be, NO POLITICS IN THE QUESTION TO BE DECIDED TODAY.

The New Haven Railroad has agreed to surrender the lease.

The Directors of the Port and all Boston WANT THE PIER.

The Hamburg-American line, the greatest steamship company in the world, will, if the Port Directors are able to give it the use of the pier, inaugurate next May a service from Boston to Channel ports and the Continent of Europe.

This is the situation in a nutshell.

In its PRESENT condition the Commonwealth Pier is no more a pier than a cellar is a house. It WILL be a pier when sheds are built, roadways constructed and equipment purchased and put in place.

THIS BEGINNING OF A PIER has been idle for years. It was built as the result of a develop-the-port agitation of seventeen years ago, after a commission—without power—had made certain SPLENDID recommendations.

A few years ago, the NEW HAVEN RAILROAD TOOK OVER THE PIER. And the New Haven has KEPT IT IDLE. The facts may have no connection, but business men will recall that the lease by the State to the New Haven was announced at about the time that representatives of the Chamber of Commerce were in Canada, talking with the late President Hays of the Grand Trunk about coming to Boston.

The Commonwealth Pier should be PROPERLY EQUIPPED IMMEDIATELY.

There appears to be an impression in some quarters that steamship companies PAY for pier facilities. This has never been done in Boston. It IS a fact, however, that from the very beginning the wharfage collections BY THE STATE, at Commonwealth Pier, should be not less than $35,000 a year.

And, if the $70,000 a year rental which the New Haven Railroad is paying the Commonwealth, to keep the Commonwealth Pier in IDLENESS, is so vast a thing that over it and under it and around it ANY member of the Executive Council cannot see the necessities and the great future of the Port of Boston, there is something else to be pointed out besides this $35,000 a year in WHARFAGE rates.

This SOMETHING ELSE is the fact that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is today the owner of 6,000,000 square feet of land in CLOSE PROXIMITY TO THE PIER.

These filled-in flats are TODAY A DREARY WASTE.

Let the Executive Council say the right word and an animated Commonwealth Pier will so vivify this dreary waste that its value to the State will shortly be enhanced at least $2,000,000.

Already the great wool business of Boston has extended to the very edge of this State-owned land. Bring in the Hamburg-American line, to occupy, perhaps, one-half of the Commonwealth Pier, and the Hamburg-American will be FOLLOWED BY OTHER LINES. And this Commonwealth land in South Boston will blossom with warehouses and factories.

Not only the members of the Executive Council, but every business man in New England, and EVERY PATRIOTIC NEW ENGLANDER, will do well to bear in mind that transportation is VITAL to this community.

All the raw material used in our New England factories comes to us from OUTSIDE.

The FINISHED product of New England skill goes forth into the markets.

And the EXTRA cost of sending these goods out into the world-market, by way of New York, is one two or three dollars a ton.

WATER gives us the CHEAPEST KIND of transportation.

Boston wants the Hamburg-American line because the Hamburg-American line is the BIGGEST AND GREATEST OF THE STEAMSHIP SERVICES.

Boston OUGHT TO WELCOME the Hamburg-American line because, moreover, Hamburg is the greatest trans-shipment centre in the world.

The Hamburg-American line connects at Hamburg with some thirty of the best ports of Europe. By way of the Hamburg-American line and these trans-shipment facilities at Hamburg the industries of New England will be brought into touch with these markets MORE DIRECTLY AND MORE SPEEDILY than by the slower and more infrequent service of today.

The question before Lieutenant-Governor Luce and his associates this afternoon is NOT the wisdom of the Legislature of 1911, which created the Board of Port Directors. That Legislative act has TWICE been PASSED UPON BY THE PEOPLE.

The AMERICAN is inclined to the belief that the Board of Port Directors, by bringing together the Hamburg-American line and the Commonwealth Pier, has already JUSTIFIED ITS CREATION.

This newspaper will not today assume to ADVISE THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

In the name of the people of New England we shall, however, respectfully ASK the members of the Council to OPEN THE DOOR OF THE PORT OF BOSTON and STAND ASIDE!
